

Nationwide Curfew in Chile

Allende's Suicide Is Reported

SANTIAGO (UPI) — The military junta which brought a bloody end to the government of Marxist President Salvador Allende today closed Congress, imposed a nationwide curfew and set up press censorship.

Allende, the Western Hemisphere's first freely elected Marxist president, was reported to have committed suicide Tuesday afternoon in the smoking ruins of his Casa Moneda presidential palace.

In Washington, the State Department refused to comment on the military coup, but the change in government seemed likely to improve recent rocky relations between

Chile and the United States.)

Allende, 65, angered Washington by nationalizing big Kennecott and Anaconda mines in the copper-rich nation of 10 million. He also took over an International Telephone & Telegraph subsidiary — which ran Chile's phone system — after U.S. press reports last year of ITT plots to overthrow the Marxist regime.

The new junta, made up of the three armed forces commanders and the head of the police, went on television early today to impose a nationwide curfew, close Congress and break off diplomatic relations with Cuba.

The junta warned Chileans to stay at home today, and the streets of the capital were empty except for constant military patrols.

The armed forces, which declared martial law after the coup, said a long list of officials in Allende's Popular Unity coalition of Socialists and Communists would be arrested on sight.

The junta was made up of Army Gen. Pinochet Ugarte, Navy Adm. Jose Toribio Marion Castro, Air Force Brig. Gustavo Leigh Guzman and Police Chief Col. Cesar Mendoza Frank. It imposed rigid censorship permitting the publication of only one newspaper, El Mercurio, after being edited by the military.

Juan Enrique Lira, photo editor for El Mercurio, said he was allowed into the 150-year-old palace after the coup and saw Allende's body lying on a sofa, the carpet underneath soaked with blood.

Lira quoted reported eyewitnesses as saying the president before his death urged Chileans to "trust in your leaders and keep on trusting the people."

He said the witnesses told him Allende then shot himself in the mouth with a machine gun. There was no word about Allende's wife and three daughters.

The military chiefs seized control of the nation of 10 million Tuesday morning to break "the yoke of Marxism" and demanded the resignation of Allende. The president refused, vowing, "Only dead will they take me out of the Moneda."

Planes and tanks then bombed and strafed the palace for three hours, riddling nearby buildings in downtown Santiago, and troops overran the stone-walled 18th century building.

The armed forces said Allende had an apparent change of heart in mid-afternoon and asked for a five-minute cease-fire in order to surrender. The military commanders said the request was turned down because sniper fire made it "impossible."

Twenty minutes later, the military announced the palace had been taken, but shots continued to sound throughout the city. The rest of the country was reported quiet.

There were no official reports on casualties in the fighting, but UPI newsmen covering the coup said dozens appeared to be slain and the

The palace was in total ruins today with the last fires put out the night before. Mobs sacked the president's residence in a wealthy Santiago neighborhood.

The coup ended 42 years of strict constitutional neutrality on the part of Chile's armed forces and reduced the number of non-military governments in South America to four—Argentina, Venezuela, Colombia and Guyana.

After failing in three previous attempts, Allende won the presidency with only 36 per cent of a vote divided among three candidates. He had three more years to serve of his six-year term.

Buildings in downtown Santiago were riddled during the bombardment. The UPI bureau 300 yards from the palace was badly damaged and its floor littered with broken glass, chunks of concrete and spent bullets.

Koenig Cites Progress As Mayoral Debates Begin

By CARL GRAHAM

KINGSTON Incumbent Democrat Francis R. Koenig denied charges of "government by crisis" leveled by his Republican-Conservative opponent, William B. Merrill Jr., Tuesday night before the Ulster County Business and Professional Women's Club as the two candidates made their first face-to-face appearance in the Kingston mayoral campaign.

Following brief opening statements at the conclusion of the BPW dinner in the Governor Clinton Hotel, the candidates answered questions from the floor after the meeting was opened to the public and about 50 persons joined a like number of BPW members.

Merrill charged that Koenig's administration operates on a day to day basis, with no action taken until a crisis occurs. Koenig noted that the country had not experienced one crisis-free day since the Roosevelt administration in 1933, and said that the necessity of working with state and federal agencies to obtain aid money often complicates local governmental processes. He cited as an example a letter written in Albany on Aug. 24, mailed a week later, and received here on Sept. 4, asking the city to pass a resolution that would make it eligible to receive aid and return the resolution to Albany by Sept. 7.

Asked how he would make the city more attractive for business and industry, Koenig said that two years ago there were 26 vacant stores in Kingston "and that's not true today. Urban renewal, the Metropolitan Life building, construction at North Front and Washington Avenue, and downtown housing indicate that the city is being revitalized now."

Merrill said he thought that plans should be made for the city to become a developer itself. "I think the downtown area has been neglected. I hope the total picture will change in the next year or so."

Denying Merrill's contention that the downtown area had been neglected, Koenig said: "Since I have taken office the area has seen the Rondout Gardens project, UDC development (hopefully completed by the end of October), a new city hall and fire department building, a new nursing home, Rondout Community Center, and plans for a new home for the Daily Freeman."

Merrill, asked to specify which city buildings he said were falling down, cited seven row houses on Murray Street which he called an Urban Renewal project, "and I am told we are having problems with City Hall."

Koenig said that the homes mentioned by Merrill were built by a private contractor, not UDC, and the city was not involved at all.

Koenig said he had written to a Philadelphia architect about the possibility of preserving the Kingston Area Library building on Broadway. "Considering the costs, involved, I question whether a move there is in the best interests of the city."

Merrill said he felt the building should stay as it is. "I don't think the people have weighed the money that would have to be spent to move to another area."

Koenig said that plans for two five-story office buildings on a five-acre plot at Washington and Hurley Avenues would eliminate Taylor Street. "When I took office I was blamed because nothing was done — now I'm blamed because everything is being dug up."

Included at the head table were the candidates for alderman-at-large, Democratic incumbent T. Robert Gallo and Republican-Conservative Burt A. Ellis.

Mrs. Maureen Graham BPW president, introduced Mrs. Anna Bartz, a BPW member who is running for the county legislature. Mrs. Graham said that if more women campaigned and served in elective office on the local level there would be more qualified candidates for state and federal office, and noted that the BPW charter not only allows but endorses non-partisan political activity.

Merrill Backs Vols in Dispute

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON Republican Mayoral Candidate William B. Merrill has thrown his support to the city's volunteer firemen in their dispute with the paid department concerning use of the Kingston Fire Department Fund Inc.

Speaking at a press conference at the Gov. Clinton Hotel today, Merrill first chided his Democratic opponent, Mayor Francis R. Koenig, for refusing to take a position in the dispute. (Koenig contends the dispute does not involve the city; that is between the volunteers and the paid men). "It is disheartening," Merrill said, "to say the least, to citizens seeking solutions to their problems, or redress to their grievances, to be told by a mayor that these problems and grievances are not his responsibility to solve, or even help solve. Particularly when these problems involve city employees, a mayor should pitch right in and do his very best to come up with fair and equitable solutions. This kind of mayor is the kind we should have."

The dispute between the paid and volunteer firemen, involves some $14,000 that is paid to the Kingston Fire Department Fund Inc. annually by the State Insurance Department from two per cent premiums charged on out of state fire insurance written in the city. The money has always been divided among the city's (at present, 10) volunteer fire companies.

The paid men, reopening a law suit they began in 1967, are demanding a "fair share" of the money and have served notices of claim on city officials and the Fire Fund.

"I'm completely in favor of the volunteers in this dispute," Merrill said today. "The volunteers are an integral part of the community. They should not be pushed aside. The small amount of money involved does not justify the suit" (by the paid men).

Merrill also suggested that the mayor should play a more active role in current negotiations between the city and the unions representing city employees, the police and the department of public works.

Merrill also touched on how you can formally close the other controversial topic today, case while questions still remain the investigation into alleged about that money."

wrong doing in the city treasurer's office, which Mayor Koenig's contention that he (Koenig) declared closed (as did the city) and demanding an immediate investigation at a station as soon as he was made aware of the missing money, but press conference on Monday. It was revealed that the city is serving the responsibility didn't end in current claim on its bonding com there.

Mullany Stays on Ballot

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON Family Court Judge Hugh R. Elwyn, who on Aug. 24, filed an objection with the Board of Elections to the nomination of Democrat William C. Mullany, withdrew those objections Tuesday paving the way for Mullany to oppose not only him but another Republican candidate, Bernard A. Feeney Jr., for one of two Family Court judgeships.

Judge Elwyn's withdrawal of his objection followed a decision by the Election Board Monday that there was not sufficient evidence to uphold the objection.

Judge Elwyn had questioned the validity of Mullany's nomination because he felt the Democrats did not hold a "proper convention" in that quorum did not exist. About 23 persons attended.

According to Election Commission Edwin F. Callahan and John J. Hogan, the Democratic convention was a "proper convention" and that under the circumstances the Democratic Party rules do not state anywhere as to the number of people that have to be present at a reconvened convention in order to have a quorum.

The decision to withdraw the of all segments of the objections to Mullany's nomination was reportedly also based on the fact that in similar cases before the court, endorsement at the March convention is usually a condition. Since that time a second convention has been created and Feeney announced their candidacies.

Commenting on the withdrawal, Mullany said he was "delighted" saying that now that the "cloud cast upon my can two family court judges, in effect all three are running at large, in that the November ballot will list all three names. Mullany said "it is vital that the people have a choice in the two." Mullany therefore is not running against Judge Elwyn or Family Court touches the lives, Feeney, but both.

FIRST DEBATE—Mrs. Maureen Graham, president of the Ulster County Business and Professional Women's Club, is flanked by city candidates for mayor and alderman-at-large who met in public debate for the first time at the Gov. Clinton Hotel Tuesday night. On the right are the incumbent Democrats Mayor Francis R. Koenig and Alderman-At-Large T. Robert Gallo. Burt A. Ellis, Republican candidate for alderman-at-large, is on the left, joined by his running mate for mayor, William B. Merrill Jr. The BPW sponsored "question and answer" session officially kicked off the campaign. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Office for Aging Hearing Is Set

KINGSTON County Legislature. A public hearing on the proposed resolution that would authorize the establishment of an Ulster County Office for Aging will be held Thursday at 3 p.m. at the Legislative Chambers of the Ulster County Office Building.

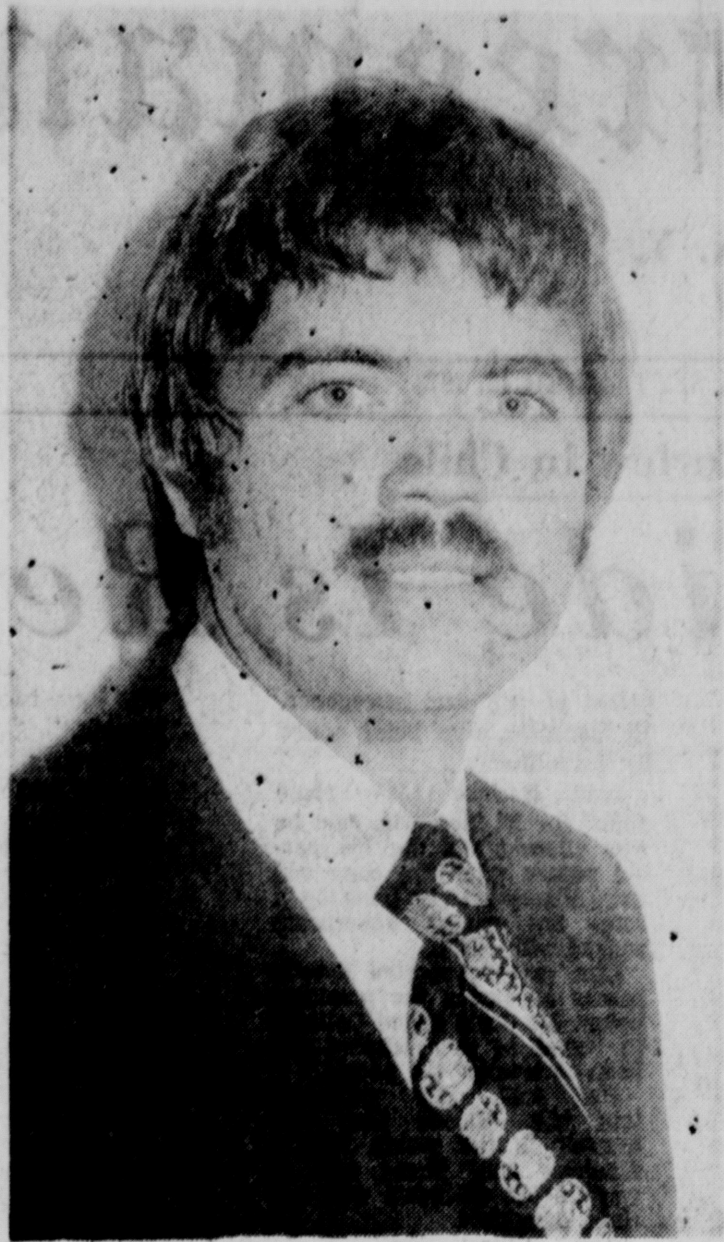

The announcement was made by Legislator Raymond Armater (R-City), chairman of the Committee on Aging for the older citizens," Armater added.

Tivoli Gets $52,490 For New Sewage Plant

TIVOLI New York State has kicked in $41,005, and is expected to add another $17,000 when certain details are completed at the site.

According to Village Clerk Dora Grantler, numerous copies of financial, performance, legal, and other records have been sent to the state in order to ratify its demands.

And the $30,000 loan the village is contemplating includes that $17,000, just in case it does not arrive.

JOHN E. MODJESKA

Modjeska on DA's Staff

KINGSTON The appointment of Kingston lawyer John E. Modjeska as an assistant district attorney of Ulster County has been announced by District Attorney Francis J. Vogt.

Modjeska will assume his new duties on Oct. 1.

A graduate of Kingston High School and a resident of Rte. 1, Tillson, Modjeska, received his AB degree from Syracuse University College of Liberal Arts and received his JD degree from Syracuse University College of Law in 1970.

He was admitted to the New York State Bar in July, 1971, to the Northern District of the Federal District Court of New York the same year and to the Southern District of the Federal District Court of New York in 1972.

He presently maintains an office of the general practice of law at 42 Main Street, is business manager for the Kingston Indians Drum and Bugle Corps, was a summer assistant in the office of the District Attorney in 1969 and was a founder and editor of the Judge, law school paper.

Modjeska is a member of the New York State and Ulster County Bar Associations.

His appointment brings to seven, the number of assistants in the district attorney's office.

Vogt said the increase in number is necessary due to increased case loads and anticipated added cases due to the new drug laws.

Other members of Vogt's staff include: First Assistant Ellen G. Donovan, Edward M. P. Green, Albert F. Hrdlicka, James L. Melbert, John T. Dail Vechia and Douglas Hunt.

Beef Prices Start Dropping

Several New York grocery stores announced a reduction in drop prices on some beef items, beef prices beginning today to 10 per cent below the freeze level next week, and other New York stores announced competitive reductions.

In other sections of the country, the feeling was the price boom on beef that was expected after the price freeze was lifted Monday will not come this week, and when it does come, it will be far below previous predictions.

Walter Johnson, packing house manager for Armour Co. in Little Rock, Ark., said he expected prices to be 5 to 8 per cent higher rather than the 20 per cent some had predicted because "there are more cattle ready to hit the market than we had thought."

Prices in supermarkets showed little change from last week before the ceiling was lifted at midnight Sunday, Virginia, said his stores would actually need.

Chou Hails President Pompidou

PEKING (UPI) — Premier Chou En-lai hailed visiting French President Georges Pompidou Tuesday as a man opposed to world rule by two superpowers and said China was preparing for a new global war.

Pompidou, the first Western European chief of state to visit China, mixed serious talks with sightseeing today, his first full day in the country.

The French leader planned visit to Peking's inner Forbidden City and then scheduled a meeting with Chinese leaders later in the day.

The president arrived Tuesday for a seven-day visit and was honored by his hosts at a huge banquet in the Great Hall of the People.

Speaking at the nine-course banquet, Chou warned that "the danger of war still exists ... and we must be well prepared against wars of aggression."

"Our principle is to dig deep underground shelters, build up grain stocks everywhere and never to make claim to hegemony," he said. "Digging underground shelters means for us to prepare for a war or natural disaster...."

In an attack apparently directed at the United States and the Soviet Union, Chou hailed Pompidou as the representative of a nation opposing superpower attempts to rule the world.

"There are a small number of people in the world who have a passion for encroaching on the independence of others," Chou said.

"We are for the view that the cause of European unity, if it is carried out well, will contribute to the improvement of the situation in Europe and the whole world," he said.

Pompidou said France and China were strengthening their national defenses until universal disarmament can be achieved.

Peace Agreement in Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — The neutralist government of Premier Souvanna Phouma and the Communist Pathet Lao initiated a peace protocol today setting up a coalition government and ending more than a decade of war in Laos.

The formal signing of the agreement was scheduled for Friday. Government sources said Souvanna decided on the date and time for the formal signing after consulting his astrologer.

The agreement also provides for withdrawal of all foreign troops, including about 200 American military advisers and paid Thai mercenaries, within 60 days.

The new government will be presented to King Savang Vatthana for royal appointment, under the Laotian constitution.

Under the agreement initiated today, there will be 12 ministries. Souvanna Phouma's side will hold the ministries of defense, interior, education, finance and public health. The Pathet Lao will appoint the ministers of foreign affairs, economy and planning development, public works, information and culture. So-called "non-political" figures will be appointed ministers of Justice and Telecommunications.

Ngone Sananikone, chief government negotiator in the seven months of talks with the Pathet Lao, said the Pathet Lao compromised on the most important points of the peace pact.

Sources close to the negotiations said the Pathet Lao dropped its demands for co-administration and joint security police for the administrative capital of Vientiane and the royal capital of Luang Prabang, 200 miles north of here. The government will handle these matters alone, the sources said.

Prisoners of war also will be exchanged in the next 60 days.

Gold Mine Shooting, 10 Strikers Killed

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Police opened fire on strikers at a gold mine near Carletonville Tuesday night, killing 10 black workers and wounding 12 others, a company spokesman said.

A mine spokesman said the trouble began when about 80 African machine operators struck at the Western Deep Levels gold mine for more pay. About 100 armed policemen were called to the mine, about 60 miles west of Johannesburg, to seal off the compound and restore order.

"They became aggressive and the management of the mine was obliged to call on the assistance of the South African police to restore order," the spokesman said. "When the police arrived, the gathering was soon joined by many others."

The spokesman said the strikers "became more aggressive and took up a threatening attitude and began to throw stones, causing considerable damage to property."

"They also broke into and ransacked the hostel's liquor outlet," the spokesman said. "A considerable amount of liquor was stolen. After trying all moves to subdue the mob, the police were then obliged to open fire."

The spokesman listed 10 killed and 12 wounded. The wounded, he said, were admitted the Western Deep hospital. In addition, he said, two other non-striking Africans and a policeman suffered injuries and were hospitalized.

The condition of the wounded was not immediately known and a spokesman said the names of the dead would be released "after next of kin have been informed."

Letters to the Editor

Zoo Conditions

Editor, The Freeman:

The letter from Mr. Wurzbacher was read by the members of our family with great interest and he is 100 percent correct about the filthy conditions, and lack of decent care for the animals at the Kingston Zoo. We visited the Park zoo recently and observed the same slovenly conditions and the total lack of interest on the part of the employees. This is just a symbol of the city government, nobody seems to give a damn. I know at least two of the Park employees and they got their jobs thru city politics. They take no interest whatever.

When we were there several of the employees were just lolling around altho many of the animal cages contained accumulations of excrement and obviously had not been cleaned in days and the odor was overpowering and the cages were covered with flies and bugs.

Surely the Humane Society or the S.P.C.A. has a duty to investigate and force those responsible to at least clean up the place and install some adequate cages. Maybe we should put some of the employees in the cages and put the monkeys and other animals on the city payroll — that way the public would get more for their money.

Let us have action and clean up this mess.

Sincerely Yours,

Mrs. Mario DePaulis

Dog Bite

Editor, The Freeman:

When careless dog owners allow their pets to become strays and bite people on a public street for no reason it is deplorable.

This happened to me on Labor Day weekend on Fair Street, near Maiden Lane, this city. Since the teeth marks were visible on my right thigh, my physician (surgeon) advised me to go to the hospital emergency room for a double tetanus shot to be safe.

The question arises — since my medical insurance doesn't cover this, who do I get compensation from when I don't know who owns the dog because it had no license tag. If I reported it to the police, I would be told to see the dogcatcher.

Don't you think it's unfair that I must pay for a dog owner's negligence?

Sincerely,

EDWIN J. HIGBY

Cohen Support

Editor, The Freeman:

In the dark night of Watergate a bright new star has risen on the political horizon. His name is Sanford Cohen, Libertarian candidate for the U.S. House of Representatives in the 25th District. Dedicated to a clear exposition of the important issues, he has already begun his campaign. His platform is clear.

Governmental power has overstepped its legitimate bounds. Both "liberal" and "conservative" politicians apparently wish to control every aspect of our lives. They legislate what is "right" and what is "wrong," tell us what movies and books we are allowed to see, and manipulate the market so that farmers are going into bankruptcy while consumers are faced with astronomical food prices. We must take government away from the bureaucrats and give it back to the people. Sanford Cohen can help us do this!

I urge you to support his campaign for the House from our congressional district.

Sincerely,

DONALD M. ARONOFF

N-Plant Site

Editor, The Freeman:

The proposal of the state to use the 2300 acre site in Highland for an atomic power plant is disgraceful. Recent "accidents" and "leaks" at nuclear power generators in the State of Washington prove how dangerous these things can be.

A much better use for this valuable tract of land would be the formation of a park and nature preserve, under state or county management. This area with two fine lakes, streams, marsh and woodland, is ideally suited for development as a recreational area. Southern Ulster County is critically in need of recreational areas and nature preserves for the enjoyment of our burgeoning population.

We should all act now to get the state to alter its priorities. The few undeveloped areas of southern Ulster should be for the enjoyment of everyone — not the preserve of the power companies.

Board Member Criticizes School District Residents

By WADE BURKHART

ELLENVILLE — A member of the Ellenville Board of Education delivered a blast against the "apathy" of the residents of the school district, at Tuesday night's board meeting.

Dr. Arnold Wolff, a seven-year school board veteran, said it had been his experience that "most people will express concern for the school district if they are slapped in the face directly." He said after that their interest in the district rapidly waned.

What sparked Wolff's criticism of district residents was a question from Cragmoor resident Fred Radl about the results of a district-wide questionnaire on the school district's housing problems sent out several months ago by a citizens advisory committee to the board.

Wolff said he was a member of the committee at the time the questionnaire was sent out, and the returns from it were "a tragedy." He said the committee got "less than a one percent" response to the questionnaire, and that more than half of those responding had a direct interest in the district.

He said the results were not statistically valid, but did indicate "general community apathy toward the schools."

Wolff charged that while there was "a nucleus of concerned people" most of the district's residents were "ignorant" of the district's operations, got their information "sixth hand," and did not take the trouble to seek out correct information.

He said he knew of no solution to the problem.

Concerning housing, Superintendent of Schools Thomas J. Hayden said it had been and still was his opinion that the district's schools were overcrowded, that the district was "behind the times" in not building new schools, and had "wasted money" because of increased construction costs in not doing so. Board President Sonia Olsen said the subject of new schools for the district is still "alive."

In other action, the board voted to rent district buses to senior citizen groups, and to open the schools five nights a week to responsible community groups.

Before new state law was passed this summer, it was illegal for a district to rent buses to senior citizens. Now that it can, the Ellenville board voted to do so, though Hayden and School Board Attorney Benjamin Lonstein suggested further study. The motion passed by the board said the buses would be rented if they did not interfere with the district's transportation program and if the senior citizen trips were covered by the district's insurance.

The school board has been pressing for a town-wide youth commission, but because that has been slow going Board member Lee Augustine suggested publicizing the willingness of the district to allow its facilities to be used for recreational purposes. He was strongly supported by Board Member Morris Posner, who made the motion to open the schools.

Hayden said this "reiterated" what the school was already willing to do, and did not involve much more money.

The board approved the continuation of the district's preparations for a Middle States evaluation. Hayden said the expense this year would be "minimal."

Hayden pressed for an engineer to be engaged to work on plans for rehabilitating the track damaged by flood control work and replacing a storage building, but this was tabled until an executive session.

Dutchess Official to Lions Club

'MTA Power Should Be Limited'

KINGSTON — The vast powers of State agencies such as the Metropolitan Transportation Administration should be limited, Dutchess County Executive William Bartles told members of Kingston Lions Club Tuesday, describing his dealings with MTA in matters concerning the Penn Central Railroad and Stewart Jetport.

"I have never experienced such frustration," he said mainly due to MTA Chairman William T. Ronan's "arrogant, high-handed and arbitrary manner."

Bartles was responding to a question posed by a Lions Club member at the luncheon meeting at the Gov. Clinton Hotel during which he was asked if MTA was cooperating in supplying information concerning the new jet port at Newburgh.

Of the upcoming transportation bond issue to be voted on Nov. 6, Bartles warned that the funds would be channeled downstate with all the taxpayers picking up the tab. He cited MTA practices now in subsidizing downstate transportation, pointing in particular to a bus line in Nassau County as the recipient of state funds.

Bartles touched on many topics and problems not only peculiar to his own county but encountered by many surrounding counties such as Ulster and urged regional solutions be sought.

He suggested that regional jails rather than county jails be established and called for the separation of jail administration from the Sheriff's Department. It would be a major relief if sheriffs could get rid of the headaches of operating a jail, he said, suggesting that correction officers be hired to run the penal institution instead.

He advocated the county medical examiner system in place of the coroner system as in Dutchess County and he expressed pleasure with his county's newly created Office of the Aging, saying the elderly deserve better treatment than they are getting.

Lively Paltz Meeting

NEW PALTZ — As expected, the New Paltz town Planning Board had heavy action on subdivisions when it met this week.

The town's moratorium on subdivision, reduced from 90 to 45 days by the town board in a compromise move, expired Aug. 15, and the stiff new density requirements the planning board was seeking to get passed by the town board before the moratorium expired Nov. 6, were sent back to the planning board for revision. Thus, subdividers who had their plans in order could bring them before the planning board under the old regulations, and four of them, with the four proposed subdivisions totalling "well over" 100 units according to Planning Board Chairman Dr. David Mesches, did so Monday night.

Three of them, the Lacarruba, Schulte, and Schreiber subdivisions are in Al zones, and the fourth, the Cohn subdivision, is in R1.

The subdivisions are seeking preliminary approval from the planning board, and Mesches said his board would soon be advertising for the public hearing now required by new law before that approval can be given.

According to Mesches, the planning board has settled on the revisions requested by the town board on the new density requirements, and was in the process of transmitting them to the town board. He said the town board should have them in about a week, and Mesches "hoped" to have a public hearing on the new regulations "no later" than early October.

The planning board granted preliminary approval to the Fulton Town House development at its Monday night meeting. Mesches said the board was "very pleased" with the plans submitted, which included a detailed plan for the recreational areas of the condominium development. The recreational areas will include a baseball diamond, swimming and wading pools, shuffleboard, tennis, and basketball courts, and a picnic area. The development is to be located behind the Simmons Plaza.

Chairman Walter Donnaruma, Bartles also spoke of the growth of the area and in particular Dutchess County. "The growth is coming in like a tide," he suggested "and you can't zone out such growth," suggesting instead that the growth be harnessed along the best avenues. This can be done, he said, through planning conferences such as Dutchess County has been holding and through regional effort such as is being accomplished through Mid-Hudson Inter-County Council which has representatives from many counties in the area.

Speaking of Dutchess County's charter form of government which was adopted six years ago, Bartles said that the two branches of government, legislative and executive, provide an excellent system of checks and balances.

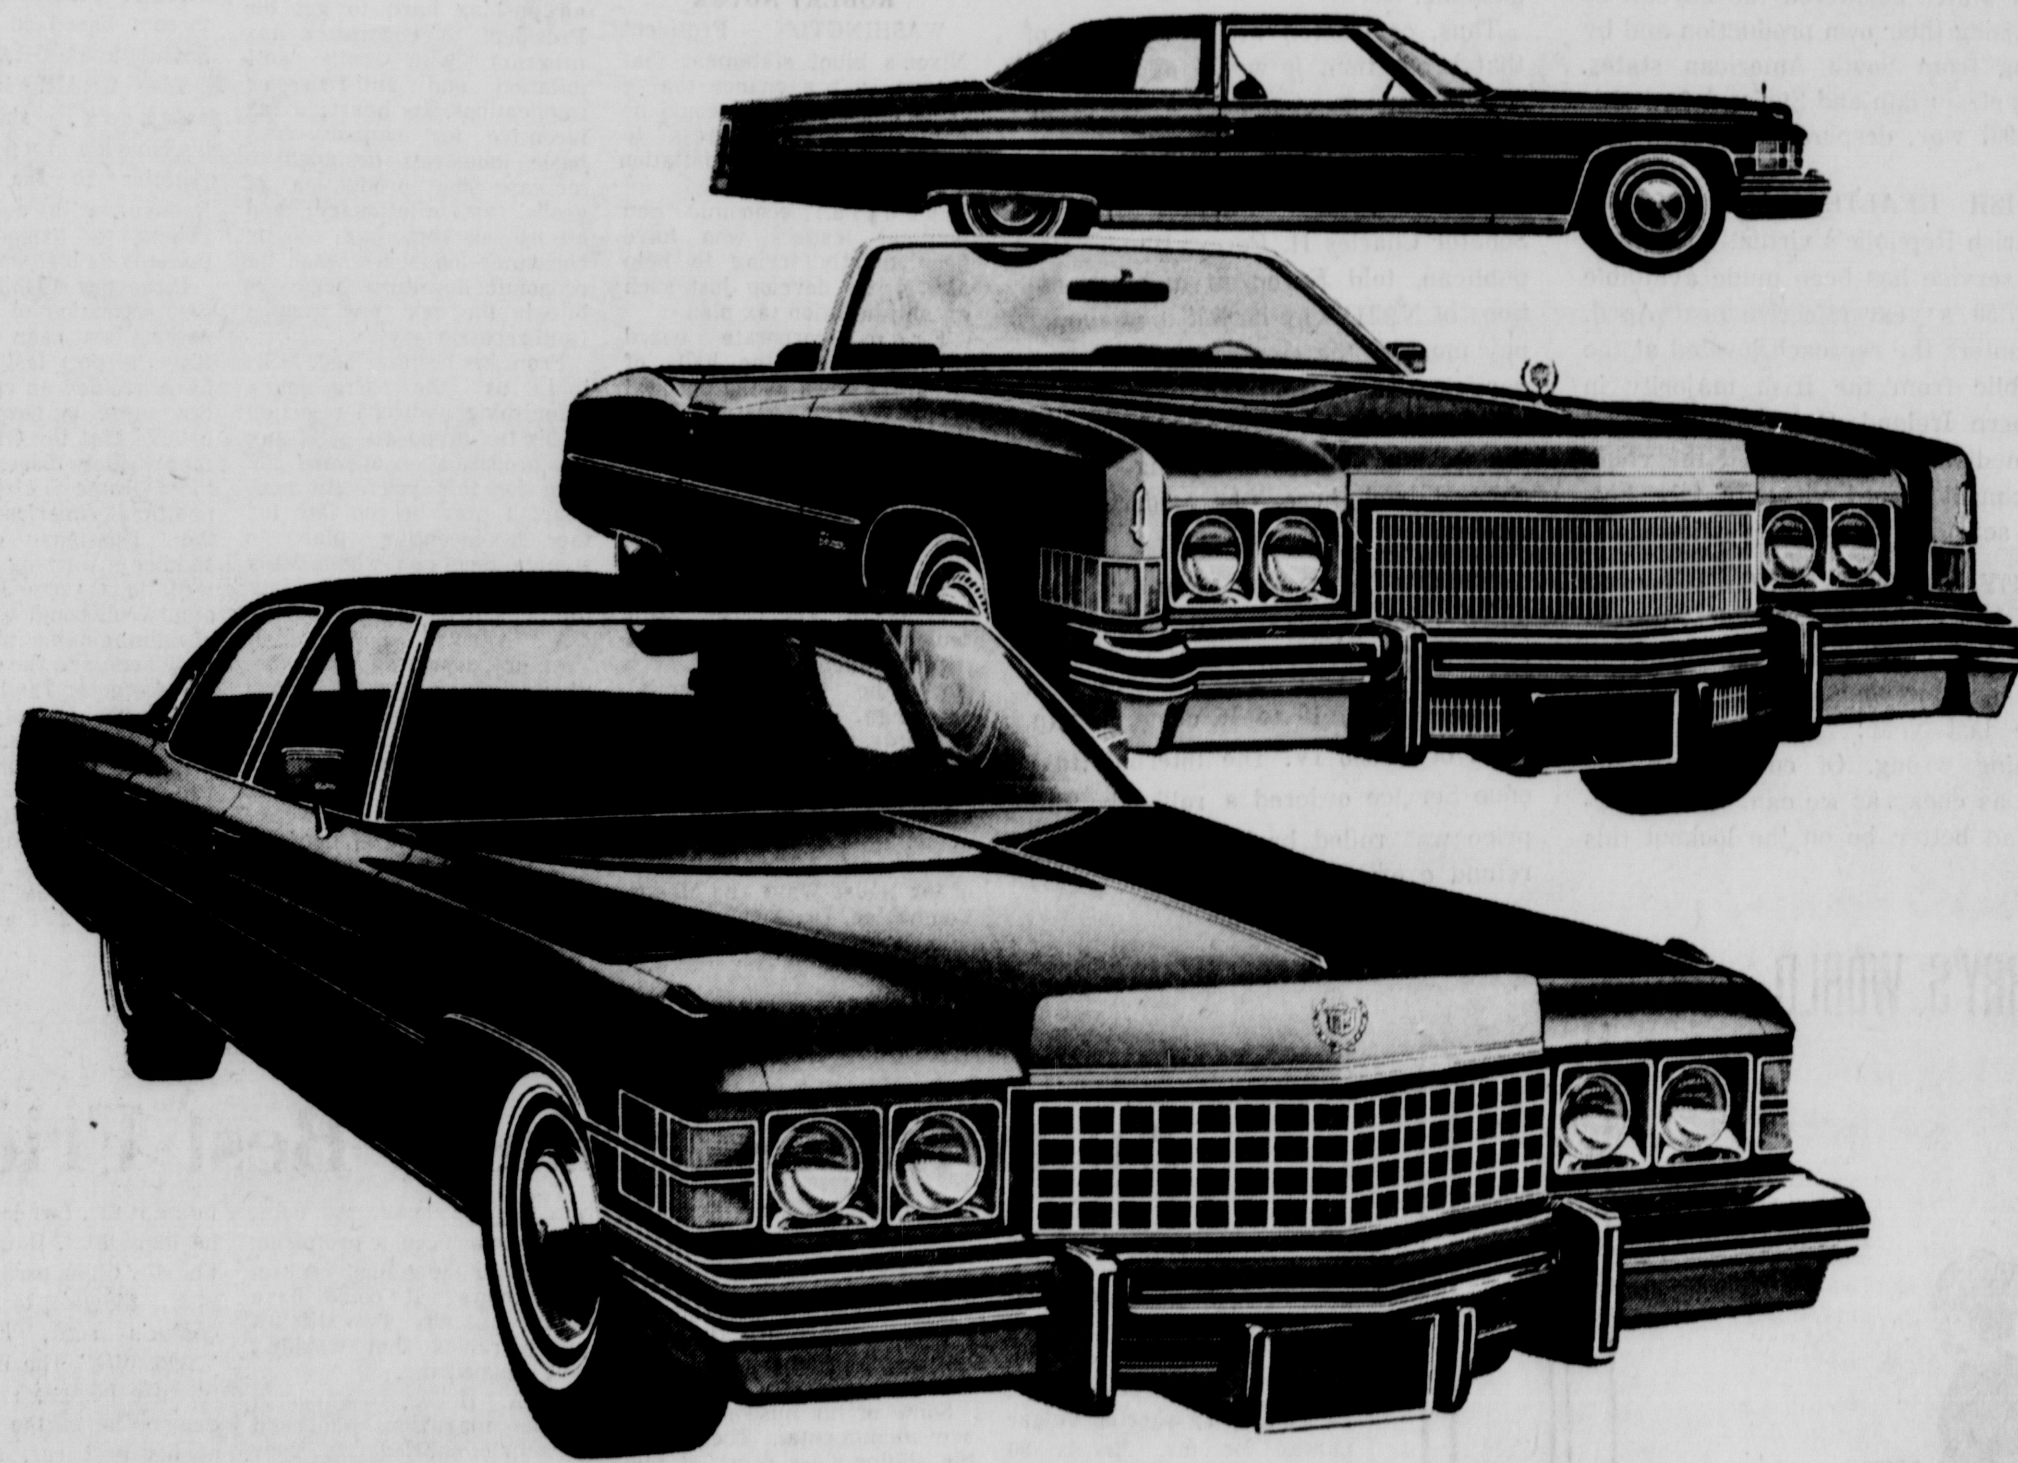

Asked if the charter form of government had proved more costly than anticipated, Bartles said that it has but noted that inflation had taken its toll and it is therefore difficult to determine to what extent the costs are higher.

Cadillac '74

More than ever...

America's Number One Luxury Car.

It is a matter of record that in the model year just ending more people chose to own Cadillacs than ever before in history—more than double those of the nearest competitor. And it is true that Cadillac traditionally leads all U.S. car makes in both resale value and owner loyalty. It's a record without equal. Yet in many ways the Cadillacs of 1974 are superior to the cars that established this record.

It's what you expect of Cadillac...and something more.

More choice. And what a choice it is—the greatest in the luxury field. There are the three you see here. The classic Fleetwood Brougham. The magnificent new version of America's only luxury convertible—Eldorado. The newly styled Coupe DeVille. Plus six other basic models. Plus...

New Special Edition Cars. Luxury versions of DeVille. A new Brougham d'Elegance. And the new ultra-elegant Fleetwood Talisman, a car we think is destined to be the talk of the luxury class. More elegance. Inside every 1974 Cadillac is a new instrument panel that gives the car the lap-of-luxury look. Interiors are more luxurious than ever.

More flair. The smart new styling of the Coupe DeVille is a case in point. Its beautiful new lines, highlighted by the private quarter window, further accent its youthful flavor. As does the bold new Cadillac grille.

More driving pleasure. Finer engine performance...from start to stop. Due in part to a new combustion chamber, a new camshaft, a choke reindexer to provide quick starting, a snorkel to supply the engine with cooler air. The rolling smoothness of the ride tells you this is Cadillac at its best. Available on all models are steel-belted radial tires and a new High-Energy Ignition System.

And something less. Even less engine noise with high-damping engine mounts, a fan clutch and a muffler for air intake. Inside the car, a virtual network of acoustical materials—including double seals on doors—silently does its job. After all, it's a Cadillac.

To own or lease the 1974 Cadillac of your choice, or just to look them over, we invite you to visit your Cadillac dealer now. Cadillac '74...more than ever, America's Number One Luxury Car.

Water Works Foes Get Some Bad News

By TIM SCHUSTER

RED HOOK — Those vocal opponents of service and rates of the Amundale Water Works in Red Hook are going to have to look elsewhere for aid in their eight-year-old running battle.

Spokesman Raymond Rhodes, leading many residents of Linden Acres and Colonial Manor, two town housing subdivisions, received the news from Red Hook Town Attorney Phillip O'Brien Tuesday night that the town could not help in rectifying alleged illegalities perpetrated by the water company.

O'Brien noted in his statement to Rhodes that the Public Service Commission has exclusive jurisdiction over water; if Rhodes and associates disagreed with PSC rulings by its only remedy was to bring the company into court on an Article 78 proceeding; that the town has no power to take action against Amundale Water Works as a private utility; and praisal.

the Red Hook Town Hall; and a public hearing in Kingston by the PSC on the alleged infractions.

Rhodes reacted by stating that his experiences in this vein have led him to become aware of injustice in our society, and he was particularly bitter about "insensitive bureaucracy."

On another matter, O'Brien noted that a lawsuit has been filed against the town's assessors by a local attorney.

He said that Harold Emery had filed the suit, adding that he was "hopeful the petition will be dismissed." O'Brien commented, however, that he thinks the suit is a forerunner of several that may arise next year.

One step the board took to alleviate overwork by its assessor Reginald Sheffer was to approve the hiring of Carl Pack to aid Sheffer in reviewing town assessments, resulting from a recent county reappraisal.

According to County Representative Madison Siperley Jr., the firm of Cole-Layer-Trumble will return to the county this fall to complete its reappraisal, and each town officials, the citizens group should have an accurate list of county representatives, and mistakes made by the firm the

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 12, 1973

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Vice President Spiro Agnew has twice pressured a small federal agency to give hand-some no-bid contracts to a Maryland company run by an old friend and political campaign contributor.

The lucky company was Maps, Inc., of Baltimore, which does aerial photography and related mapping. Until his death in January 1971, its president was Thomas Collins, who had been a member of the Baltimore County Personnel and Salary Board while Agnew was the county's chief executive.

A few months after Agnew became Vice President, Collins began to seek a $121,900 air map contract with the Redevelopment Land Agency (RLA), a housing and planning agency in Washington. Aware of his old friend's new power in Washington, Collins called Agnew.

Agnew had an aide call RLA and the agency awarded the contract to Maps, Inc. One competitor protested loudly to RLA that political pressure had been exerted, but the complaint was ignored.

UNUSUAL LETTER

In 1971, RLA was preparing to award another mapping contract and the agency's executive director, Melvin Mister, got an unusual letter from Agnew's administrative assistant, Arthur Sohmer.

"Two years ago," Sohmer reminded Mister, "this office contacted you on behalf of Maps, Inc., a Baltimore firm, which had expressed an interest in doing topographic mapping for your agency."

The vice presidential message went on to praise Maps, Inc., at some length, then added pointedly: "Any consideration that you might be able to give to their interest would be appreciated by this office."

Sure enough, on September

24, exactly a month after the Agnew letter, Maps, Inc., got a fat $158,600 contract from RLA. Once again, a competing firm told RLA it had been unfairly treated.

'OUR FRIENDS'

In Dundalk, Maryland, the Baltimore suburb where Maps, Inc., is located, Mrs. Collins, who briefly succeeded her husband as president, explained: "The Agnews were our friends. Tom and Ted knew each other well. So did Judy (Agnew's wife) and I. They lived about a mile from us."

She insisted that to the best of her knowledge her late husband's political donations to Agnew were in the form of fund-raising tickets and were at most in the low hundreds.

At RLA, a spokesman said Maps, Inc., "did a good job on both contracts" — which our study of the files tends to confirm. The spokesman said: "It was a validly awarded contract. The contacts (by Agnew's office) had no effect."

As to the propriety of a Vice President using his office to pressure a federal agency on behalf of a former crony, the RLA said, "We treated it like any other communication about a const. ent."

'ROUTINE'

At Agnew's office, Sohmer refused to speak to us, but a spokesman said, "We regard this very much in the nature of a routine referral. No pressure at all was intended."

In fact, such referrals are 'routine' only for congressmen. When they come from the White House or Vice President, they have all the earmarks of a direct order.

FOOTNOTE: Neither the FBI nor the Justice Department has contacted RLA or Maps, Inc., in connection with the federal probe into possible kickbacks given to Agnew and other Maryland political figures.

OIL AND SECRETS: Efforts by the White House to ease the energy crisis with off-shore oil and gas drilling have run smack into the Pentagon's secret installations in the Gulf of Mexico.

Under orders from the White House, the Interior Department plans to lease huge new undersea tracts to the oil companies for exploration and production. Unfortunately, the drilling poses not only a threat to the environment, but to the Pentagon's choicest defense sites.

The Defense Department has complained that giant stationary rigs in the gulf would make low altitude flights and tests of weapons systems, including "heat-seeking" missiles, dangerous. The missiles they fear, might even zero in on an oil rig, destroying the rig and its workers.

The Pentagon has a $1.5 billion investment in the five Florida bases. A classified congressional report bottled up in the House Appropriations Committee indicates that the bases and their 50,000 civilian and military employees might have to be moved at a staggering cost to the taxpayers of $3.4 billion.

Secret meetings between Pentagon and Interior officials have failed to reach an accommodation on auctioning lands to the oil companies. A session last month between Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton and Deputy Defense Secretary William P. Clemente Jr. ended in polite disagreement.

Besides the military's objections, the Interior Department has to contend with the opposition of Gulf Coast public officials who fear a repeat of the Santa Barbara oil spill could ruin the white beaches.

Meanwhile, the Interior Department is grumbling that if its leasing plans for the gulf are thwarted, they may open up the Atlantic seaboard to offshore drilling, an even hotter political potato than the gulf controversy.

A Little Pressure From the Veep

The Arab Oil Torture

Freeman Editorials

Power Politics With Oil

Libya added insult to injury when it announced it would not accept American dollars in payment for oil.

The statement dramatizes the low state of American affairs in two areas, economics and energy needs. It would have been unthinkable just a few years ago for any nation to look unfavorably on United States currency.

It's a sticky situation and the strategy of the Arab countries is clear. Without question oil is being used as a major political weapon and the United States has no really effective counterweapon.

Prior to its announcement that it would accept payment only in a currency convertible to gold, Libya had shown its complete disdain for this country by taking over controlling interests of all foreign petroleum firms operating in its territory and then by doubling the price of crude oil.

Behind all these moves is pressure to persuade the United States government to be friendlier to the Arab states. For oil-rich nations of the Middle East, money is only a secondary factor, although the poorer Arab states suffered from a politically-inspired oil boycott in 1967.

At that time, shortly after the Six-Day War between Israel and the Arab states, the latter cut off supplies to America and Western Europe for several months. But the energy crisis had not taken shape yet and the democratic states countered the boycott by increasing their own production and by buying from South American states. Egypt, Jordan and Syria, defeated in the 1967 war, desperately needed help from their wealthier neighbors and so the boycott was lifted. The philosophy then was that the Arab states had to export their principal product since "you can't drink oil."

It's a vastly changed situation now. The United States is desperate for energy sources. During the last decade, oil has supplied two-thirds of the total energy consumption of this country, Europe and Japan. And although world oil prices have risen sharply, oil is still considered the cheapest source of energy available.

But domestic production in the United States has not kept pace with increased consumption so this country has become more and more dependent upon outside sources of supply which means, for the most part, the Arab states.

And the Arab states have all the high cards. True, they'd like some of the modern weapons produced by this country but even more they'd like the United States to stop supplying Israel. With fall and winter weather approaching, creating even a greater demand for oil, the pressure certainly will be on Washington.

What the answer will be is hard to say.

The Nixon administration faces the dilemma of either deserting Israel, which it considers an ally, or of seeing many parts of the nation without heating oil or with reduced supplies of gasoline.

Thus, confronted with a problem of that proportion, it would appear that this country must modify if not scrap its current Mideast policy.

WHY THEY SHOULD PAY MORE— Senator Charles H. Percy, Illinois Republican, told European member nations of NATO why he felt they should pay more of the cost of the American participation. "American-financed aircraft runways and buildings are not things that are ever going to be shipped back here," he said. Sounds reasonable.

NICKEL CUP OF COFFEE — When the cafeteria at the Treasury Department raised the price of a cup of coffee from 10 to 16 cents, it ran afoul of Phase IV. The Internal Revenue Service ordered a rollback. The price was rolled back to a nickel to refund overcharges.

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's blunt statement that "there isn't a chance that a responsible tax bill" could be passed by "this Congress" to help stop runaway inflation amazed and angered influential economic and political leaders who have been quietly trying to help Mr. Nixon develop just such an anti-inflation tax plan.

From corporate board rooms through the halls of Congress down to the hospital room of recuperating Rep. Wilbur Mills in Little Rock, Ark., the reaction was stunned disbelief.

That shock was starkly summed up by Dr. Pierre Rinfret, the New York-based private economic consultant who has worked closely with senior White House aides, and the President himself, ever since the 1968 presidential campaign. Rinfret, mincing no words, told us:

"The President's statement was the most serious economic mistake he has ever made."

Democrat Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, Dr. Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, Rinfret and some Treasury experts were all pushing hard to get the President to endorse a tax program with both anti-inflation and anti-recession implications. Its heart: a tax incentive for capacity-short basic industries designed to increase the production of goods (anti-inflationary) and absorb workers laid off by consumer industries when the economic downturn begins to bite in the next few months (anti-recessionary).

From his hospital bed, Mills told us the President's astonishingly abrupt rejection of his tax proposals — of any tax proposals — doomed the plan for this year. By next year, it may be too late for the tax-incentive plan to stem a recession which Mills fears could easily turn into full-fledged depression.

A footnote: Some high Treasury department officials were claiming that Mr. Nixon really did not mean to slam the door on the Mills proposals. If so, the President himself will have to correct the record because his words left not a particle of doubt.

INVESTIGATING CASEY

Inside Report

Nixon's Tax Blooper

Union by the U.S. points up the rising danger of anti-aircraft Palestinian terrorist threats based on use of the Society-made GRAIL.

The GRAIL is a heat-seeking, shoulder-fired, bazooka-type launcher (similar to the U.S.-made Redeye) with a range sufficient to explode aircraft perhaps as high as 10,000 feet.

Discovery of this missile in the possession of Palestinian nationalists near the Rome, Italy, airport last week may have avoided an epic tragedy. But there is now reason to believe that the GRAIL is far more widely dispersed than to the Rome airport. The unofficial American protest to the Russians carried a somber warning that international terrorists, Arab or otherwise, could wreak havoc of unimaginable intensity with easy access to the GRAIL.

A footnote: The U.S. Redeye missile weighs only 18 pounds on an 11-pound launcher with less than one pound of lethal explosives.

INVESTIGATING CASEY
Special prosecutor Archibald Cox is quietly investigating possible wrongdoing in the ITT affair by one of the Nixon administration's top economic policymakers: economic Under Secretary of State William J. Casey.

The investigation concerns Capitol Hill complaints that Casey, as chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) in 1971, kept documents concerning the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. (ITT) away from congressional investigators. Soor after Cox took jurisdiction from the Justice Department in investigating whether ITT received special treatment from the Nixon administration in an antitrust case, his investigators began looking into Casey's role.

This by no means assures eventual legal action against Casey. However, friends believe the high-powered Casey may have to resign as the State Department's leading economics officer.

A footnote: Although Cox inherited a well advanced ITT investigation not too far from the indictment stage, he is giving top priority to getting indictments in the Watergate case itself. What's holding him up is the legal struggle over access to President Nixon's surreptitious tape recordings.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Sometimes a Man's Best Friend Isn't

It's the dog or me. One of us goes. The weakness in the solution to the presence of a lazy German shepherd is that I am afraid to put it to a vote. Kelly, Karen and Kathi call him "sweetie-heart!", reserving shorter vulgar names for me. He is 90 pounds of pure gold, liquid brown eyes and pencil-thin dark eyebrows.

With those credentials, it is no surprise that, at age five, he still plays with rubber cruller. I feed this live mink to protect the premises. He won't work himself up to a bark until after the doorbell rings. Charlie Chan, I am certain, would lick the hand of a burglar.

Over the years, he has reformed all of us. My wife and I sleep in the master bedroom. When we retire, he puts on his intelligent ears-up expression, and sits at her side of the bed until she gives him a round peppermint candy. When the time comes that there is no peppermint, that mutt is going to have a massive heart attack.

He sleeps in our bathroom. He thinks the bathroom scale was designed for his head. At 4 a.m., a trip to the john can be like the tunnel of love on a surfboard.

Some of his misconceptions are monumental. There are big sliding glass doors at the back of the house. Beyond them is a 35-foot swimming pool. Would any sane dog mistake that thing for his drinking dish? Ours does. Once a week, Larry Rideman arrives to clean the pool.

Mr. Rideman is young, has a wispy beard, and works in shorts and sandals. Charlie Chan, who works in a fur coat, goes into a frenzy and leaps against the glass doors. When Rideman leaves, the dog collapses and is hand-fed cookies and other goodies.

In spite of this, I decided to endure Charlie Chan. Some of you will recall that, when we tried to mate him to a lady shepherd with caterpillar eyelashes, a pink bow, and white leather booties, she bit him on the head. At once, Stupid renounced a promising sex life for the rubber cruller. Who knows? It could have been a love nip. Two stitches and a rabies shot wouldn't have stopped me.

E. A. Heller, writing in Coronet magazine, published an article entitled "Is Your Dog Cracking Up?" Yes, Heller says that there is a dog psychologist in Los Angeles, Dr. Dare Miller, who can restore lost buttons in a canine's head. Perhaps, but I know Hollywood as a big drive-in sanitarium. There is no religion, cult, fetish, faith healer, Krishna, put on or electric teaser who has not tried L. A.

It's the place where analysts have analysts. I would fly Charlie Chan to Miller's kennel, but the dog is terrified of planes. He is also afraid of bicycles, motorcycles, automobiles, pedestrians and house flies which walk up his nose.

One of our dear friends is a people psychiatrist. His name is Dr. Lester Keiser and he likes dogs. However, when Charlie Chan uses a yard of pink tongue to lick the doctor's sock, he growls, "Buzz off!" The doctor used to raise boxers. Two of them dug nests in the back seat of his best car. He is ambivalent about mutts.

The only plus in Charlie Chan's life is that he once bit a creditor who tried to hand a bill through the front door. This, I will concede, shows discernment. In a foolish moment, I hid his rubber cruller and he ran through the rooms until he collapsed in nervous exhaustion.

When the ladies are out, I have sat on the floor with him and had little man-to-man talks. I explained, in words of one woof, the sanctity of fatherhood, and how getting there is half the fun. He developed a malarial shiver and walked the keyboard of the piano.

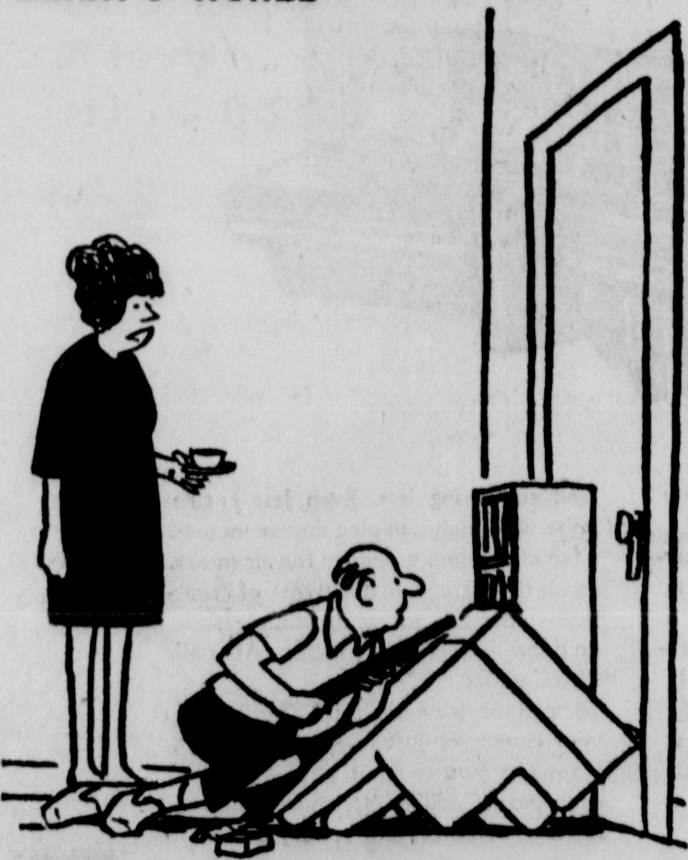

This isn't extreme. Dr.

Miller had a patient who used to wet on a princess phone. Our dog would need an elevator. Which reminds me: at what age does a dog learn to lift a leg? Five years is a long time for crouching. Dogs who are house-broken do it in the house. Ours, fortunately, is outdoors broken. He has an affinity for neighbors' hedges.

Maybe I ought to give Charlie Chan one more chance. I learn that Dr. Miller owns a Chihuahua, a sort of bald mouse. His name is Count of Monte Cristo, but the psychologist calls him "Dog Dog." Other than that, Miller is okay. I'm okay, the dog is okay.

And yet, as much as I worry about Charlie Chan, I shy from Miller, too. He says he trained Ronald Reagan on how to care for a collie. "I knew from the way he handled his dog he'd make a pretty good governor," Dr. Miller says. By the way, has Nixon got a dog? Or vice versa?...

Benedictine Offers Land For Mental Health Center

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON An offer of a long-term flexible lease at a token charge for land on which to build a new Ulster County Mental Health Center has been proposed to the county by Benedictine Hospital, according to an announcement made this week by Melvin Mones (R-City), chairman of the Ulster County Public Health Committee.

The land offered is on the hospital property off Mary's Avenue and is adjacent to the Cerebral Palsy Center on Webster Street.

The county had previously indicated its interest in locating its new proposed center on a site contiguous to or directly upon Benedictine Hospital grounds and recently the Public Health Committee, Ulster County Mental Health Board and representatives of the hospital met to move ahead on the proposal.

The next step, Mones said, will be for him to submit a resolution to the Ulster County Legislature asking for an appropriation for the services of an architect to design the building. In making the offer to the

out-patient facilities would be contiguous to the hospital and its in-patient mental health facilities.

Hospital, mental health and public health officials all agreed such an arrangement would be ideal.

Dr. George Joseph, director of the Ulster County Mental Health Center, and chairman of the Department of Psychiatry at Benedictine Hospital, cited the center's ever increasing case load among the many reasons a new mental health facility is needed for out-patients. In 1970 there were 1,400 patients, in 1972 there were 2,232 with 2,600 expected hospital met to move ahead on this year.

Mones said the county has been keeping the present Mental Health Center, adjacent to the City Laboratory "functional but with a minimum amount of maintenance because the present facility is not adequate for the needs of the center."

conducted in an office-type regard to the space with only atmosphere. Dr. Joseph envisions the proposed new facility as being a ground floor building with outdoor facilities in order that some patients may "sit in the sun, play outdoor games" etc.

There would be separate facilities for children and adults included in the day hospital and space would be given over to clinic, dining room, offices, rooms for therapy and group therapy as well as art and game rooms.

At Mones suggestion, the county has been studying the feasibility of building the new center since last April and has been investigating availability of funds to construct it. Mones said that federal revenue sharing funds are available as are state and federal funds up to 75 per cent of the cost. He pointed out however that the county cannot take advantage of both sources of income and would have to choose one or the other.

Mones said the cost of the proposed center cannot be determined at this time but he said the structure would not require sophisticated equipment because most of the therapy, treatment and services are point of acute crisis, with six rooms available for seven part time psychiatrists and psychologists. A system of shifts with the staff working until 10:30 at night and on Saturdays had to be instituted in order to share the six rooms. The staff also includes two fulltime psychiatrists and one full time psychologist.

The center's present day hospital is described as old and dilapidated by Dr. Joseph who said that the three story building adjacent to the center has only one bathroom (for everyone).

Describing the present operation of the Mental Health Center, Dr. Joseph said there is an average daily patient attendance of between 50 and 60 including jail inmates. It is so crowded, he explained, that patients can be found sitting in corridors and on stairways and the children (30 per cent of the caseload) are sometimes thrown in with disturbed adults because waiting room facilities are limited to "one tiny little room."

Even the facilities for the center's professional staff are totally inadequate. Dr. Joseph explained, "We have reached a point of acute crisis," with

Rochester Planners Approve Application

ROCHESTER, N.Y. — The Rochester Planning Board Tuesday night approved the application made by Jacob Berman, owner of the Raway Pharmaceutical Co., of Brooklyn, to occupy the old Cream Building on Granit Road in Kerhonkson.

Berman will use the facility as an office and distributing center for his firm as well as house 40 by 52 feet and 18 feet for the manufacture of small high-pharmaceuticals. He emphasized that drugs would not be manufactured at the site. The mission to construct a dormitory on the camp grounds and building is located on about one acre of land.

Sam Cohen of Kerhonkson proposed a 12-lot development on 13.7 acres on the former Sage Farm off Berne Road in Kerhonkson. Engineer Alex Di-chishin of Napanoch explained the proposal to the board. He also explained another proposed plan for a development of 22 lots in Accord on the Upper Granit Road to be known as the Zacharco Development.

Bomb Explodes In London

LONDON (UPI) — A bomb exploded in an insurance building on London's busy Oxford Street today, showering shoppers with glass, witnesses said. At least six persons were injured.

The explosion occurred in a building housing an insurance office and a haberdashery. It was the site of similar explosions attributed to the Irish Republican Army.

A Scotland Yard spokesman said the bomb exploded near an elevator in the building at 12:57 p.m. It had been left in a shopping bag, he said.

"The blast sounded like thunder," said clerk David James of a nearby store. "It shook the shop. People have been hurt. I saw one man carried out on a stretcher and another person with a bandaged head."

The explosion shattered the windows of the Peter Stone menswear shop in the ground floor and windows of offices on floors above the store.

City Hospital Sets Luncheon

KINGSTON — The Kingston Hospital and its executive housekeeper, Charles E. Fous, will host members of Mohawk Chapter, National Executive Housekeepers Association, at a luncheon meeting Thursday, Sept. 13, at the hospital.

Speaker will be John Templin from the Hospital Engineering Manpower Program of the Hospital Association of New York State. His topic will be, proper staffing of the housekeeping department.

Mohawk Chapter's membership includes executive housekeepers of hospitals, hotels, large motels and nursing homes in an area from Kingston north to Canada.

Luncheon reservations may be made with Fous at the Hospital.

LABOR LEADER DIES — James B. Carey, 62, (65 photo) founder of the 285,000-member International Union of Electrical Workers, died of an apparent heart attack at his home in suburban Silver Spring, Md. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Onteora Board Sets Program

BOICEVILLE — The next regularly scheduled meeting of the Onteora Board of Education will be held Monday, Sept. 17, at 8 p.m. in the cafeteria of the Phoenicia Elementary School.

Miss Janet Faughnan, dean of women, will present a slide program on Innovative Methods of Recognizing Individualized Instruction Taking Place in the Phoenicia School.

Retired Teachers

The Ulster County Retired Teachers Association will hold its fall meeting Sept. 20 at the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church in Kingston. A coffee hour is scheduled for 9:30 a.m., followed by the business meeting. Luncheon will be served at noon and the meeting will conclude with an illustrated talk on historic homes in the Hudson Valley by James Haviland, assistant to the president of Ulster County Community College.

Dollar Gains Ground

LONDON (UPI) — The U.S. dollar gained ground against most major European currencies in early, moderate trading today but weakened marginally against the French franc.

In London, one pound bought 2.4055 dollars, a gain for the U.S. currency against Tuesday's closing rate of 2.4065 dollars.

The dollar opened at 2.664 dutch guilders, a 15 per cent gain over Tuesday's close of 2.66 guilders.

In Zurich, the dollar changed hands at between 3.025 and 3.028 Swiss francs, up marginally from Tuesday's close of 2.023.024 francs.

Mrs. Post Dies, One of World's Richest Women

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marjorie Merriweather Post, well-known hostess and philanthropist and one of the world's richest women, died today at her home. She was 86.

Mrs. Post, known for the lavish opulence in which she lived, inherited her wealth from her father, who founded the Postum Cereal Co., parent of the General Foods Corp.

She was the mother of actress Dina Merrill.

Candidate Kelly To Meet Voters

A New Look Cadillac

DETROIT, MICH. The 1974 Cadillac, restyled in front and rear, features an exclusive look to the new Coup de Ville, a dramatic change in the interior of all models and engineering innovations adding customer value benefits in fuel economy and safety.

"Nine models offered in three series, Calais, De Ville and Fleetwood, will go on sale in Cadillac dealer showrooms on Sept. 13," according to Robert D. Lund, general manager of Cadillac Motor Car Division and vice-president of General Motors.

And in size, overall length for all models is increased 2.2 inches as a result of the new rear bumper system.

A striking change to the Coup de Ville and Calais Coupe upper has been accomplished by the new design of a fixed rear quarter window.

Area Business News

The Fleetwood Eldorado series, again including the coupe and convertible, this model also has a newly styled front end, the focal point being the uniquely styled fine mesh grille. The rear of the Eldorado has been restyled to provide improved protection.

Standard on all models is a three-point, shoulder lap belt interlock system, except for the Eldorado convertible, which has a lap belt interlock only.

Three new "Special Edition Cars" also will be available this year including:

The new Fleetwood Talisman, the Brougham and Elegance option which was introduced last year is again available and the limousine also will have a d'Elegance option on a special order basis.

The De Ville d'Elegance option has a distinctiveness of its own, available for both the sedan and the coupe.

APICS Sets 1st Meeting
POUGHKEEPSIE The American Production and Inventory Control Society, Mid-Hudson Chapter, will hold its first meeting of the business year 1973-1974 Wednesday, Sept. 19, at Chef JoMars Restaurant on Route 299.

There will be a movie presentation titled M.R.P., Outputs and How to Use Them. Social hour will be at 6:30 and dinner at 7.

James T. Clark will again be conducting the course Production and Inventory Control. It will be presented by the Dutchess Community College. The classes will be held at the Arlington Jr. High School starting Tuesday, Oct. 30 from 7 to 9 p.m. This is an interesting course that should be attended by anyone working in this field.

ADVERTISEMENT
How's Your Hearing?
Chicago, Ill. — A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone answering this advertisement.

Try this non-operating model in the privacy of your own home, to see how tiny hearing help can be. It's yours to keep, free and without obligation. It weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit. No wires lead from body to head.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept. #9285, Beltone Electronics Corp., 4201 W. Victoria, Chicago, Ill. 60646.

Sears Pushes Search for Mower Owners

KINGSTON
Sears, Roebuck and Co. is continuing its efforts to locate owners of two models of riding mowers because of a possible safety-related malfunction when owners do not follow starting instructions.

Ralph Young, store manager of Sears, Kingston Shopping Plaza, said the models can be identified as tractor-style, electric-start riding mowers, model Nos. 536.81360 and 536.813601. The unit can be identified by the model number located on a plate next to the fuel tank.

Sears also sells a similar mower with a manual starter. This mower as well as other Sears riding mowers are not affected.

He said some 14,000 units in question were produced between May and August of this year. These units can be identified by date codes following the model number: DA3, DB3, DC3, DD3, DE3, AA3, AB3, AC3, AD3, AE3, UA3, UB3, UC3, UD3, UE3, GA3, GB3, GC3, GD3, GE3. He said that a control module used in combination with an electric-start type of engine may cause a starting malfunction. This could permit the mower to be started with the transmission in gear and with the brake/clutch pedal not depressed or with the cutting blades engaged. In normal operation, the control module prevents the mower from starting unless the brake/clutch pedal is depressed and blade clutch is engaged.

The company said this mower can be started and used in a safe manner if the customer follows the owners' manual or operating decal on the unit's dashboard. Customers were also urged to contact their nearest Sears store for inspection as soon as possible. If needed, the correction will be made without charge.

Sears said it has reported the possibility of a malfunction to the Consumer Product Safety Commission. There have been no reports of injury.

Ski-Doo Hits Coveted Mark

VALCOURT, QUEBEC
Just over 14 years ago, in April of 1959 in little Valcourt, Quebec, Canada, Joseph Armand Bombardier completed a small snowmobile and sold it to Lansdowne House, a mission in Northern Ontario.

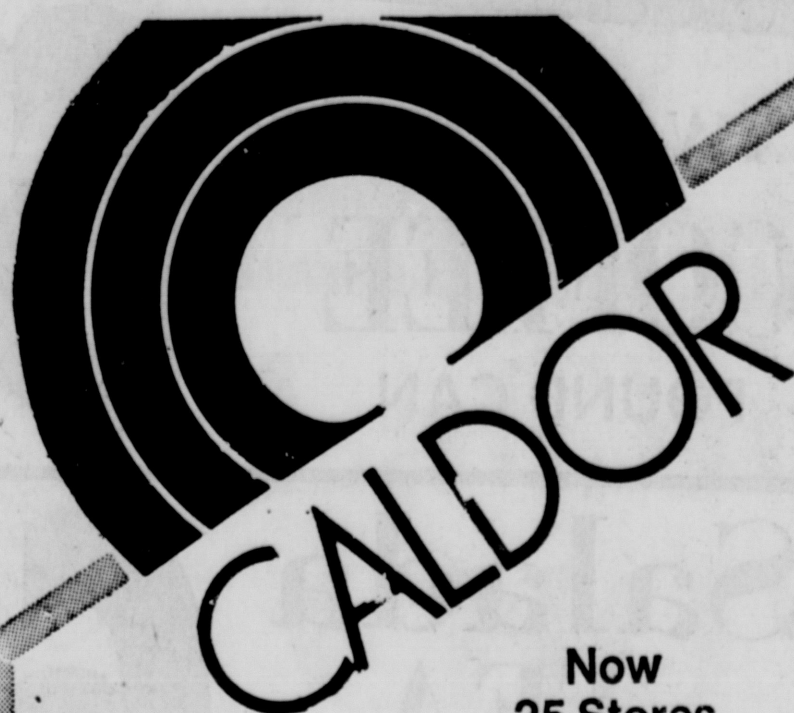

On August 29 in Valcourt, the Ski-Doo Division of Bombardier Limited the company founded by the late Mr. Bombardier who died in 1964, celebrated becoming the first manufacturer to produce one million snowmobiles.

Bombardier's 1959 machines were the start of a continuing production of one and two passenger recreational and utilitarian snowmobiles as we know them today. He called them Ski-Doo snowmobiles and in the winter of 1959-60 sold 225 machines.

Ski-Doo Snowmobile No. 1,000,000 was presented to the J. A. Bombardier Museum, which houses originals of inventions of the late Mr. Bombardier, including Ski-Doo No. 1. A replica will be presented to Dr. D.M. Baird, director of the National Museum of Science and Technology for display at that museum in Ottawa, Ontario.

Laurent Beaudoin, Bombardier president, who also is general manager of the Ski-Doo Division, said production of the millionth machine kicked off six weeks of celebrations in Ski-Doo's snowmobile dealerships in the U.S. and Canada. During this period, Ski-Doo will give away 11 new 1974 Elite side-by-side seating snowmobiles and 30 new 1974 Elan twin-cylinder snowmobiles. Information about the celebrations, for which the entry deadline is Oct. 13, is available from participating Ski-Doo dealers.

Michel Cloutier, vice-president of marketing, said the Ski-Doo snowmobiles are the world's largest selling brand and that no other snowmobile is anywhere near the million-machine mark which Ski-Doo recently established.

Federal Cutbacks Blamed

Red Hook Schools Raise Milk Prices

RED HOOK schedule, stated Monday night. Lack of a federal milk subsidy has forced the Red Hook Board of Education to tack on other nickel onto its school lunch prices this year, raising the cost 10 cents over last year. District Principal Russell J. Keefe, in explaining the new review the price increases in October and see if any further action, up or down, is necessary. Adults must pay 80 cents for the lunches, and a half-pint container of milk has increased 100 per cent to 10 cents. With the milk bid of 8½ cents per container from Silver Lake Dairy accepted by the board Monday and the continued lack of federal milk monies, the increase was judged necessary. Keefe noted a "slight increase" in district pupil enrollment over last fall's figure of 2,387. There are presently 2,424 pupils in attendance, with the eighth grade the largest class with 216 students. A bell-shaped curve of interest showing population by class has the upper grades tapering off to a senior class of 144 students, and the kindergarten at the opposite end with only 160 pupils, apparently representing smaller classes in years to come. Business Manager Earl Briant, in outlining the district's financial picture, commented, "we just made it (through the business year.)" The school budget had "about $10,000 left" when tax money started arriving, he noted. Keefe reported that opening day found one extra attendee in the district, a small woodchuck that apparently sneaked into the Will Road Elementary School and was discovered by members of a second grade class.

Three additional graduates were officially added to the class of 1973, when the board approved graduation for Gail A'Brial, Michael Degenhardt, and Jerald Rusman, all of whom completed their requirements during the summer.

Registration for the district's comprehensive Continuing Education for Adults courses will begin Sept. 17 at the school. Former director Joseph Barnes an industrial arts teacher, has taken a job with the Wappingers Central School District, and a new director is being sought.

Vacancy Committee Tabs Glazer

TOWN OF ROSENDALE The committee on Vacancies of the Town of Rosendale Democratic Party has selected Richard B. Glazer as its candidate for town supervisor, after Paul Cahill, who was chosen at the party's caucus, declined the nomination.

The Committee on Vacancies also selected Hugh Simpson of River Road, Rosendale, as the Democratic candidate for superintendent of highways. Walter B. Eineman had earlier declined the nomination.

Cahill said he had second thoughts about running for the town post after his nomination.

"I'm definitely still interested in what's happening in the village of Rosendale," said Cahill, who was his party's unsuccessful candidate for village mayor last March. "There is still a lot of work to be done in the village, and I feel at this time that I can do more good for the village than I can for the town." Cahill said he intends to run for another village post in the future.

Glazer, who resides on Elm Street in Tilton Estates with his wife and three children, is a professor of biology at Ulster County Community College.

During this past summer, he served as supervisor of the town's summer recreation program, and had previously served as chairman of the Ulster County Health Services Council, which was the parent organization for the Ulster County Blood Bank. He has also been active in United Way campaigns in the township.

Glazer graduated from Colorado State University in 1957 with a BS degree in biology and received his Master's degree in zoology and forestry from Pennsylvania State University in 1959. He was a teaching modules, and his responsibilities included the from Cornell University in 1962 and 1963.

Glazer has been employed by the State of Massachusetts as a conservation consultant in the division of fisheries and game, and has taught at Penn State, Orange County Community College, Cornell University and the State University College at New Paltz.

For the past two years, Glazer has served as associate director of project BIOTECH 1957 with a BS degree in biology for the American Institute of Biological Sciences in Washington, D.C. The project involved the development of design, planning and coordination of the project, as well as obtaining necessary funding, producing and testing the product, and heading negotiations with potential manufacturers and distributors.

Glazer will oppose incumbent Republican supervisor Gerard DeFelice in the November election.

NEW PALTZ Democratic candidate for County Legislator in Dist. 8, Thomas Nyquist, criticized reapportionment plan under which county legislators will be elected in November.

"There is a very old saying that politics is a dirty game, but the blatantly political reapportionment plan foisted upon the county by the majority in the County Legislature goes beyond the usual political chicanery," Nyquist said.

The towns of Gardiner, Lloyd, New Paltz, Marlboro and Plattekill, in Southern Ulster County have been lumped together in a single district under the reapportionment plan, Nyquist explained, adding that voters will be asked to choose seven legislators in that district from a probable field of 14.

"All excuses aside, there is no good reason for this kind of reapportionment plan," Nyquist said. "Smaller districts with fewer towns could easily have been created within population guidelines, were one or two legislators would be chosen from the local electorate. As it is the voter will have the almost impossible task of getting to know a dozen or more legislative candidates well enough to make an intelligent choice."

Nyquist claims that the county legislative majority hopes that "their scheme will protect the incumbents, who are better known, and that in the new Eighth District, it will save the position of the chairman of the Legislature, Peter J. Savago."

He suggests further that "Fortunately the voter will have a belated opportunity to reject the newly-imposed reapportionment plan in November, for it will be on the ballot as a referendum. Its legality is questionable and its morality indefensible," Nyquist said.

Large Print Books At Ulster Library

TOWN OF ULSTER Large-print books for the poorly sighted and those who find reading difficult are now available at the Town of Ulster Library.

The books are on special loan from the Mid-Hudson Library System, the public library resource center which services the libraries of the area.

The books consist mainly of adult novels, romance, adventure and mystery plus non-fiction and material for younger readers. Each book is complete as originally published. Each may be borrowed for the same period as any book in the library.

In addition a number of new books have been added to the shelves at the library for regular patrons.

Honors for Professor

NEW PALTZ at New Paltz last spring in another BFA and an MFA in art education in 1960 and 1961. He joined the New Paltz faculty as an instructor in fall 1961.

Walker, a native of New Haven, Conn., has been a member of the faculty since 1968. He holds a bachelor's degree from Queens College in New York, a master's degree in education from the University of Kansas and master's and doctoral degrees in physics from Oregon State University. This fall he is teaching courses in radiation science and mechanics at New Paltz.

Brown was born in Brooklyn and attended high school in Spring Valley, N.Y. He earned his bachelor's degree at Dartmouth College and the MA and Ph.D. from McMaster University in Ontario. He taught at Columbia University and Queens before joining in 1969 the faculty at New Paltz, where he teaches experimental psychology.

Three other members of the New Paltz faculty have distinctions similar to the one presented to Professor Stein. Dr. Harry Schwartz, the economist, and Dr. Amiya Chakravarty, the philosopher, hold the title of Distinguished Professor, and Dr. William J. Hagerty, the specialist in educational administration, is a Distinguished Service Professor.

Theater Arts, Travel Series

NEW PALTZ Three credit-free seminars in the performing arts, which will include trips to see leading London, New York City and Mid-Hudson Valley performing arts productions will be presented this fall by the "Center for Continuing Education," State University College, New Paltz.

Ted M. Kraus, editor and publisher of the 25-year-old bi-weekly theatre newsletter service, "Critical Digest," will be the instructor in the three courses. He has been an official "second night" drama critic for over 20 years in New York City, covering over 5,000 Broadway, Off-Broadway, college and community theatre productions.

The three courses are open to laymen, teachers and students whose special interests are in the performing arts, travel and food. Each course will not only include attendance at leading events, but also pre-theatre dinners with critics, backstage visits and informal discussions with guests. Students will have the opportunity to file oral and written reviews.

"London Theatre Seminar," which will meet for eight Tuesdays from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. starting Oct. 2 in New Paltz will culminate in a Christmas holiday trip to London from Dec. 26 through Jan. 1.

"Current Theatre Seminar" which meets Thursday from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. starting Oct. 4 will alternate between six class critiques and six trips to cover Broadway, Off Broadway and Mid-Hudson college, community and Children's Theatre.

"Mid-Hudson Valley Performing Arts Seminar" meets Mondays from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. starting Oct. 1.

Prospective students may register via mail-information food. Each course will not only include attendance at leading events, but also pre-theatre din-

Directions For EPA

EDITOR'S NOTE: Russell E. Train was confirmed this week as the new chief of the Environmental Protection Agency. Here, in his first interview since taking over the agency, the outspoken new administrator outlines the direction in which he hopes to lead the EPA.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russell E. Train, the new administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, says the nation's commitment to environmental quality will be severely tested as its costs hit home.

But Train said environmental clean-up would not block economic growth; in fact, he said, continued growth would be "very difficult indeed" without it.

Train, a former federal tax court judge, president of the Conservation Foundation, and chairman of the President's Council on Environmental Quality, was appointed to the EPA post after its first administrator, William D. Ruckelshaus, became deputy attorney general.

As council chairman, Train was an outspoken environmental advocate who opposed federal financing of the supersonic transport plane when the White House supported it, and who openly disputed the opinion of Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz and others blaming the energy crisis on environmental actions.

In his first interview as EPA administrator, Train criticized the congressional action, backed by the White House, to exempt the proposed trans-Alaska oil pipeline from the National Environmental Policy Act.

"I think it is a risky business to start carving out piecemeal exceptions . . . It's a bad road to go," Train commented.

Train also called for new government institutions capable of coordinating long-range policies and forecasting the results.

He said Americans should drive smaller cars.

And he supported the "non-degradation" principle of keeping clean air even cleaner than federal standards would require, a policy imposed by the courts against the resistance of former EPA leadership.

But Train indicated he was leaning toward the "local option" of allowing the states to decide how to apply the "non-degradation" principle — an approach favored by industry groups and opposed by citizen environment organizations.

Here are highlights of the interview with Train in his new EPA office:

Q—What are the most immediate problems facing you as the new head of EPA?

A—The immediate need now is to get on with the job of effectively and vigorously implementing the laws which we now have on the books. . . . There is a need for us to re-examine and strengthen our research . . .

In the immediate future, I think we're in a period where the costs to the public of environmental protection are beginning to become evident, to be felt; and yet the benefits, which I know are going to be very real, have not yet become equally evident.

So that we're entering a period which, in some ways, will test the commitment of the American people, and I think this is going to be a priority leadership role for the EPA.

Q—Has the action of Congress in making the Alaska oil pipeline an exception to the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) damaged the act's influence, put a crack in the dam?

A—I certainly hope not. . . . I think the Alaska pipeline was an awfully unusual situation.

As you know, I've said I was opposed in principle to the amendment excluding the pipeline from the NEPA process, for the reason that I think it is a risky business to start carving out piecemeal exceptions to the National Environmental Policy Act. I think it's a bad road to go.

Q—In the field of energy conservation, do you feel we are doing enough as a government, in terms of policy?

A—No. That's the purpose of the action by the President setting up the Office of Energy Conservation at Interior. . . .

We do need substantial efforts and progress in the field of energy conservation. We've just scratched the surface here.

Q—Do you see a strong need for legislation to promote better gasoline mileage, such as size limit or a horsepower-and-weight tax?

A—I think it is important that the American people progressively shift their preference to smaller automobiles. I notice that the most recent automobile sales figures would indicate that something like 44 per cent of all the sales in the American market over the last three months have been what we would call small cars. . . .

So, whether it (legislation) is needed or not, I'm not sure now in view of this trend.

Q—Do you have any general thoughts on the very difficult issue of clean air nondegradation?

A—Generally speaking, I support the goal that we should avoid significant deterioration of the air quality.

Now the question is how to do that in ways which both will protect the air quality and also leave room for rational growth in the nation. . . .

I don't think it is necessarily a dilemma. . . .

December Wedding Plans

ELIZABETH deGROAT

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Varley deGroat Jr. of Vauxhall, Kingston, announce the engagement of their daughter Elizabeth, to Thomas Edward Cornforth Jr., son of Thomas Cornforth Sr. of Rensselaer.

Miss deGroat is working at The Matheny School, Peapack, N.J., with Cerebral Palsy children. She received degrees from both Vernon Court Junior College and Dutchess County Community College.

Thomas Cornforth is a graduate of Hudson Valley Community College. He is employed by IBM in Kingston.

A December 29 wedding is planned.

Brown Sugar

When you are using an old-fashioned recipe that calls for brown sugar, you may not need to pack down the sugar. (Oldtime recipes never used the "packed down" term.) Modern recipes usually specify that the brown sugar be packed down in measuring.

Turk - Cosenza Nuptials

Mr. and Mrs. Jack E. Turk of City View Terrace, Kingston, announce the marriage of his daughter Constance Marie, to Thomas K. Cosenza, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cosenza Sr. of Melville, L.I., and Pocono Summit, Pa. Miss Turk is also the daughter of Mrs. Marjorie Turk of Grandview Avenue, Kingston.

The Rev. Sidney Harris officiated at the double ring ceremony on Saturday, Sept. 8 at the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church in Kingston. Gilbert Cicio, organist, provided traditional wedding selections.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She selected a floor length gown in Chantilly lace over silk taffeta styled with a fitted basque bodice, scalloped neckline and long fitted sleeves. She also wore an elbow length bouffant veil of French illusion held by a finger cloche of lace, pearls and crystals. The bride carried a cascade of white orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Nancy Turk, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Attendants were Mrs. Judy Pickert of Tarrytown, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Diane Zakariessen, Kingston. Their gowns of powder blue crepe with white lace bibs were fashioned with long sleeves and soft skirts. They wore matching bow and streamer headpieces and carried cascades of white and blue chrysanthemums.

Joseph Cosenza Jr., Northport, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Walter Turk and Jack Turk Jr. were ushers.

A reception was given in Roberto's in Port Ewen.

The bride attended schools in Kingston and Newport, R.I., and is employed at the Benedictine Hospital.

Her husband attended schools in Long Island and Baldwin Wallace College in Berea, Ohio, and is employed by the Ulster County Highway Department.

After a wedding trip, the couple will reside in Kingston.

Betrothal and Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Musto of 162 North Street, Kingston, announce the engagement of their daughter Barbara, to David Horton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Horton of 283 Salem Street, Port Ewen.

The bride-elect, a 1967 graduate of Kingston High School, is employed by IBM, Kingston.

Her fiancé, a 1963 alumnus of KHS, was graduated in 1965 with an AAS degree in Business Administration from Ulster County Community College. He received his BS degree in Business Administration in 1967 from Florida Atlantic University. He served two years in the U.S. Army, stationed in Okinawa, and is employed by IBM, Raleigh, N.C.

A November 10 wedding is planned.

Miss Sarah Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Campbell of Defreestville, and Craig Borner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Borner of Saugerties, exchanged wedding vows Saturday, Aug. 25, at Blooming Grove Church, Defreestville. The Rev. Paul Ammerman officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by Mrs. Steven Borner as matron of honor. Attendants were Miss Nancy Campbell, Mrs. William Campbell and Mrs. Walter Wiese.

Steven Borner of Bedford, N.Y., formerly of Saugerties, was best man. Ushers were Thomas Kosiba, James Buchan and Bruce Berkhart.

A reception was given at Crooked Lake Hotel, Crooked Lake, N.Y.

The bride and bridegroom are both graduates of State University of New York at Plattsburgh. Mrs. Borner also holds a master's degree from the same university. Her husband plans to attend graduate school at SUNY this fall.

You help us measure. And we'll help you save! With Sears made-to-measure draperies, the only place we skip is on the price. Take your window measurements and then come choose from our great selection of fabrics and colors. Open or closed weave casements. Multicolored and monotone textures. Florals and prints. Formal fabrics. Sheers. In about four weeks you'll receive your draperies . . . perfectly tailored and fitting.

HOW TO MEASURE

For width, measure the width of a conventional rod plus right and left projection from wall. With decorative rod, measure distance between the end rings. For length, measure from the top of conventional rod, or from eye of ring on decorative rod, to desired length. Ask a salesperson for any help you need.

Square Dancing Friday

The Leftovers Square Dance Club will feature guest caller Skip Smith at the club's regular Friday night dance in the Hurley Reformed Church Hall, off Route 209, at 8 p.m.

Skip Smith is a well known and popular square dance caller from Millbury, Mass. His square dance-calling talents have led him to travel extensively in the 11 years he has been calling. He has performed throughout the U.S. as well as in several foreign countries. He has called at the annual New England Square Dance Convention for eight years and also calls at National Square Dance conventions whenever possible. Smith also records his calling on the Glenn label.

For the past two years, he has devoted full time to square dance calling. This past fall he started teaching square dance classes at a nearby State Teachers College as an accredited course for the students. He hopes more western style square dancing will be incorporated into the school system thereby encouraging more youths to take up this activity. He says it is not only enjoyable, but good exercise.

All club level dancers are invited to attend.

COLLEGE FRESHMEN FACE NEW SITUATIONS

Many of you will go off to college this fall for the first time, and you will undoubtedly have many questions about living in that strange new world. Each college or university is different, and it will be up to you to learn the customs and rules of your particular school but many problems can be solved in the same way wherever you may be. The underlying rule for all situations is the Golden Rule — "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you." If you truly consider the effects of your actions on those around you, you will be a popular member of your class, and your college years will be happy ones.

Q. How can you insure yourself privacy in a dormitory?

A. You can close the door, and if you wish to be totally undisturbed, you can hang a "please don't disturb" sign on the door. The closed door should be respected by all students because almost everyone needs a chance to get away, whether to study or just to rest, read, or sleep.

Q. When your mother sends cookies, cake, snacks, or whatever, must you share the bounty?

A. Yes. You need not advertise it all over the dorm, but roommates, best friends, and those who drop in to visit should be offered a share.

Q. When a girl invites a boy to a prom or other event, what expenses does she pay?

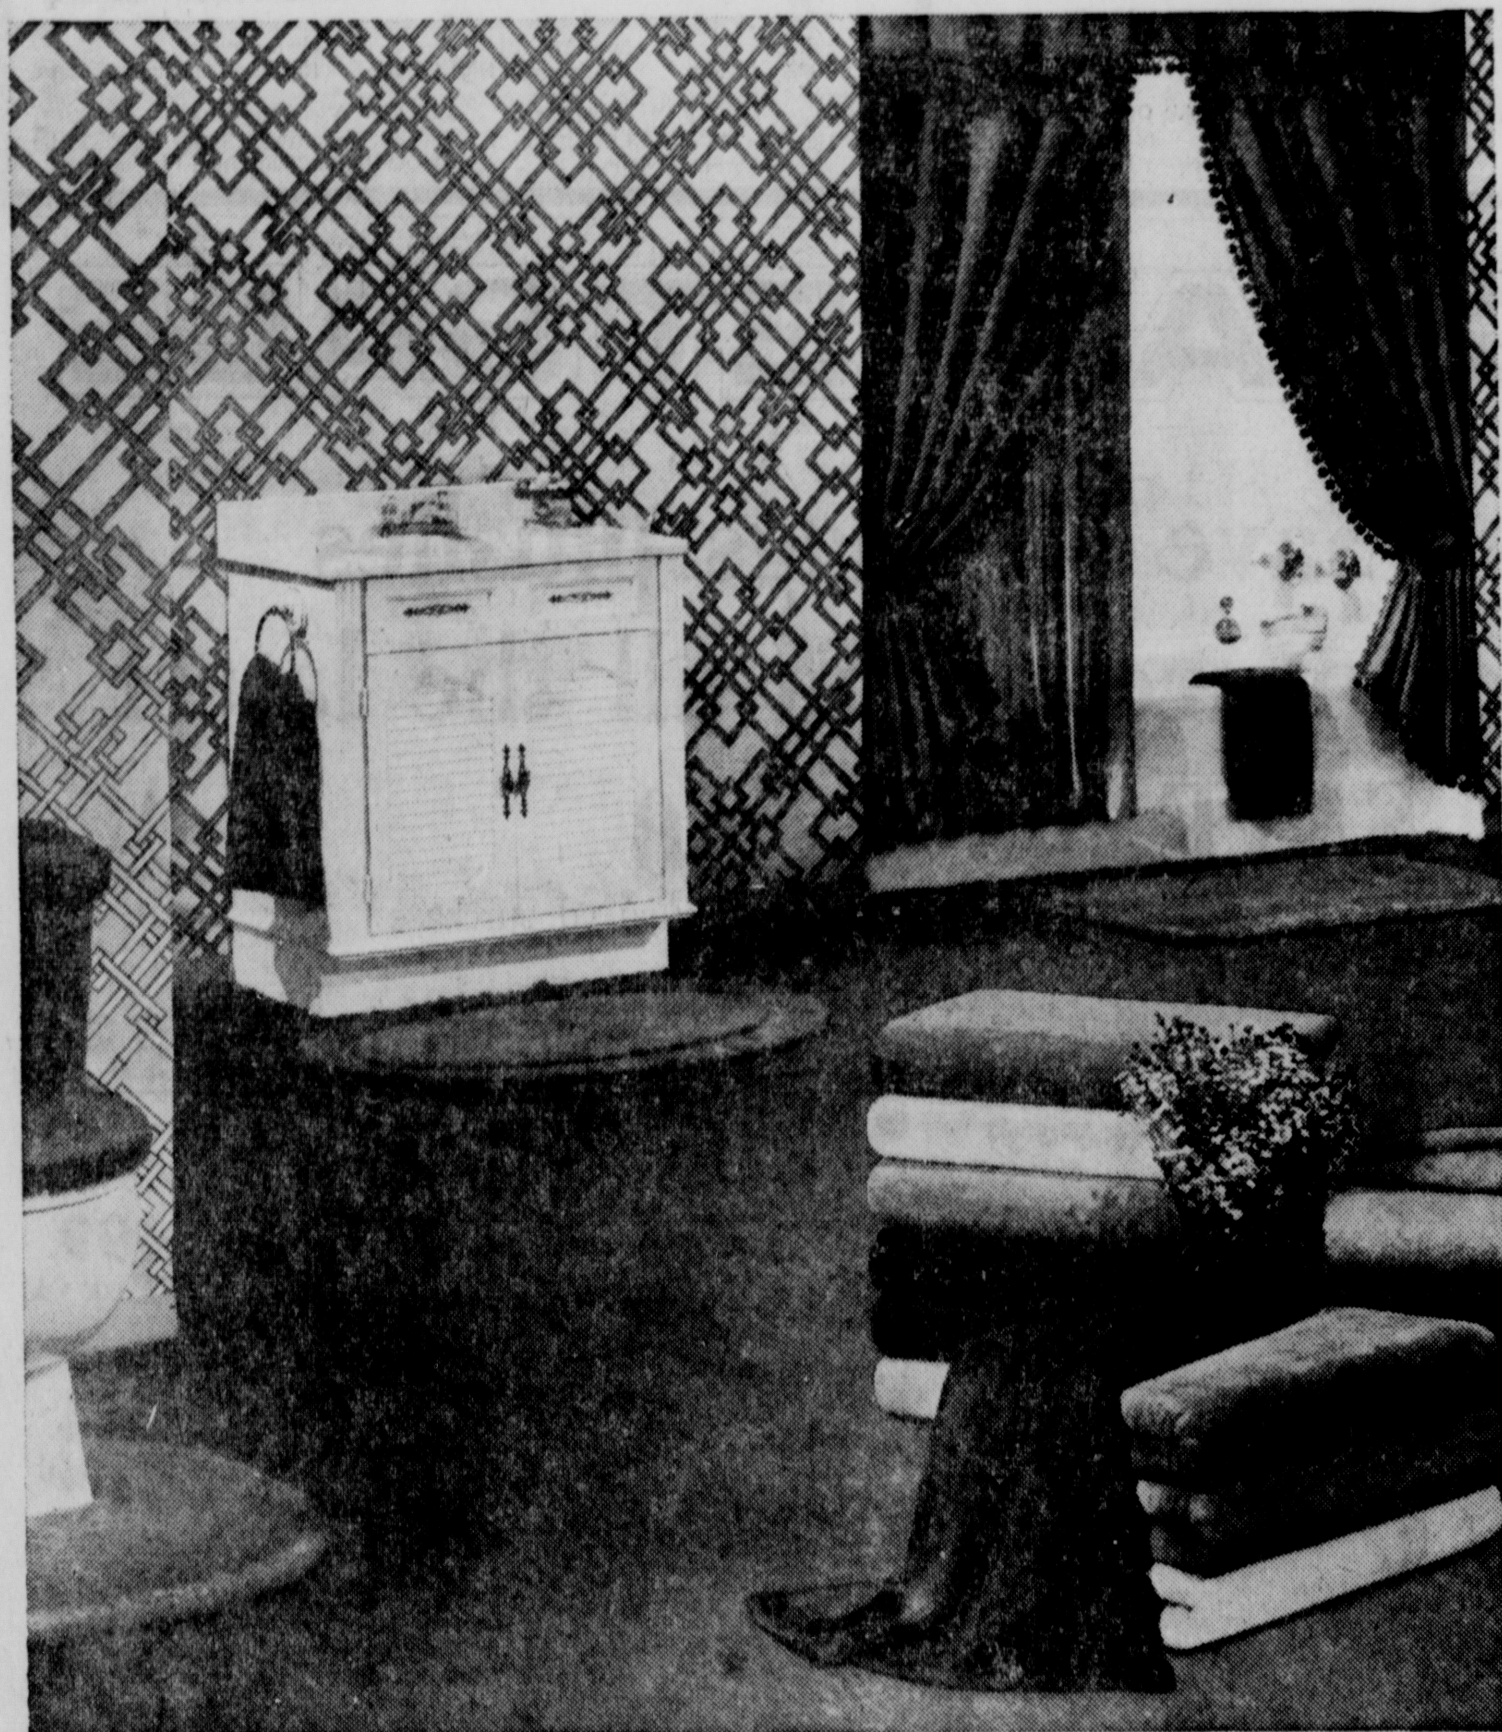

A. She pays for the tickets to the event, and generally makes arrangements for meals — whether in the college dining rooms, on picnics, or snacks in her room. He pays for his transportation and lodging if he stays in a motel or hotel. He also pays at restaurants and other places of entertainment. However, if they are on very close terms, and she knows he can not afford these expenses, she may assume more of them to make it possible for him to accept her invitation.

Q. How do you know what clothing to take?

A. The best way is to discuss it with someone who has been to the same college recently. Styles vary radically between different institutions, and that makes it difficult for fashion advisers in stores to have all the answers. If you don't know anyone who has just been graduated, write to the dean of students and ask for the name of a student you may write to for information. Almost all colleges have "welcoming committees," "big sisters", etc. who will be happy to help.

Dutchess GOP Lists Fall Plans

The executive board of the Dutchess County Women's Republican Club met at the home of Mrs. David Block where among other important reports, plans for the fall meeting were finalized. Mrs. Bradley McAlester, in charge of arrangements, stated it will be held at the Woronock House, New Hackensack Road, Friday, Sept. 21. There will be a social hour at 6:30 p.m. and a traditional family style dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. McAlester also stated the Republican Women from Wappingers Falls will be the hostesses for the evening.

Mrs. Richard Yeager, first Vice-president and program chairman, reported Judge Charles Breitell will be guest speaker. Judge Breitell is Associate Judge State Court of Appeals and is a candidate for Chief Judge of that Court. His topic will be "Judicial Reform." This is an open meeting and anyone interested in attending should contact Bradely McAlester, 27 Garden Street, Hyde Park, or Mrs. Richard Yeager, Mountain View Court, Pleasant Valley, by September 16.

Judge Breitell received a AB degree of high distinction from the University of Michigan; LLD degree from Columbia University and an honorary degree of LLD from Long Island University. He was admitted to the bar in 1933 and, after two years, served on the staff of Thomas E. Dewey as assistant District Attorney in New York Council. In 1943 Judge Breitell was appointed Council to Governor Dewey. He was a member of the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and President Lyndon B. Johnson appointed him Administrator of Justice. He was also a member of the Federal Commission on International Rules of Judicial Procedure by successive appointment of Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy. He was past president of the Columbia Law School Alumni Association, was adjunct Professor of Law at Columbia University and is a member of the Board of Visitors of Columbia University Law School and the School of Criminal Justice of State University. He is a member of the Council of the American Law Institute.

Judge Breitell and his wife reside at 146 Central Park West, New York City.

HINTS FROM

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

My uncle was raised in a household where nobody lifted a finger but the maid. When he got married, he did the same thing.

One day my cousin bought a new toy train, which gave my aunt an idea. She rigged up the train so that when she was busy doing better things and Uncle John wanted something, she would just put it on the train and away it went, on to the grand master! It works beautifully and everyone is happy.

Please print this to housewives and soon hopefuls so they won't have to work their fingers to the bone for Prince Charming too.

You can buy a toy train for approximately $10 up to who knows what. Just assemble it and you're a running caterer for your husband.

It works every time for chips, sandwiches or drinks. Of course, the drinks go on the flat car, and the train goes slowly, but it's well worth it.

Take my advice, I've seen it work!

I Know

Amtrack has nothing on this one!

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When my toothpaste tube has still an inch to go, or about a three-day supply, break out the new tube. Put away that partly used one for a weekend trip. If it's left behind, you aren't short at home.

THIS COLUMN is written for you . . . the housewife and homemaker. If you have a hint or a problem write to Heloise in care of this newspaper.

THE MOTHER EARTH NEWS

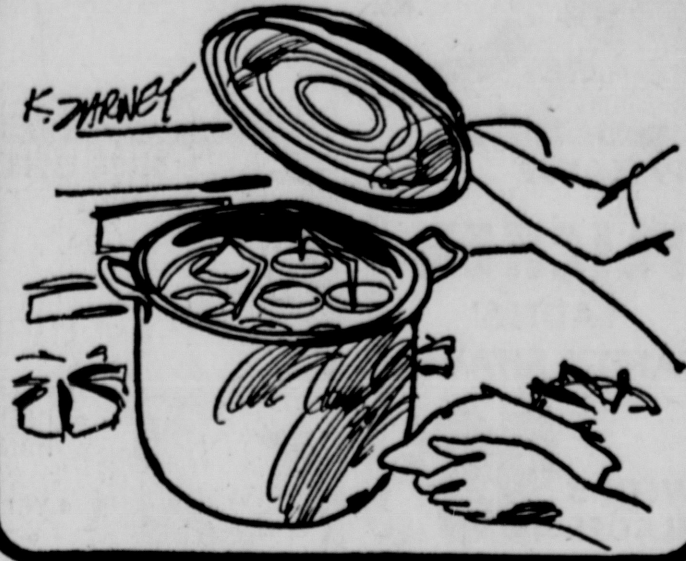

...it tells you how

There's still time, in most regions of the country, to can and freeze the last of 1973's garden and orchard produce. That's not a bad idea, either. Supplies of fruits and vegetables are at their highest during harvest season (which means they're selling at the year's lowest prices) . . . and food costs are expected to climb even further during the coming months. This is a good time to stock up!

If you know how, that is. Unfortunately, many of us have no idea of where to begin when it comes to preserving edibles at home. We need a wise old aunt to teach us the proper methods.

Well, I don't have an aunt to loan you . . . but I do have an uncle, Uncle Sam! The U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402 sells seven bulletins that—together—should tell you everything you need to know to set up and operate your own harvest kitchen. They'll even guide you in the preservation of red meat, fish and poultry. They are Bulletins No. 8, Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables; No. 10, Home Freezing of Fruits and Vegetables; No. 56, How to Make Jellies, Jams and Preserves at Home; No. 70, Home Freezing of Poultry; No. 92, Making Pickles and Relishes at Home; No. 93, Freezing Meat and Fish in the Home and No. 106, Home Canning of Meat and Poultry.

These pamphlets are available for, usually, no more than 20¢ each . . . but they're revised periodically and are sometimes out of print for weeks at a time. Luckily for anyone who wants the whole set bound into a very durable handbook, Dover Publications, Inc., 180 Varick Street, New York, N.Y. 10014 has done just that. It's called the Complete Guide to Home Canning, Preserving and Freezing. The glossy-covered (you can wipe off kitchen spills) paperback costs $2.50 and any good bookstore should be able to order it for you. Or check out a copy at your library.

DEAR ABBY: In regard to a letter dealing with X-rated movies, you replied, "If the morals squad would just ignore them instead of staging raids, confiscating film, and arresting exhibitors and patrons, thereby giving millions of dollars worth of free advertising to these trashy movies, they would die a slow death."

Now, Abby, you know I am a fan of yours, but in this case, if you pardon me, you are nuttier than a fruitcake!

There are a lot of people whose minds never got above their waists, and these movies only encourage more of that attitude. When it comes to trying to put a stop to this type of filth, I believe they should shoot the people who exhibit these films!

The problem has flourished because honest, sensible, sound people like you have refused to take a vigorous stand on this matter.

Best wishes, just the same. WILLIAM LOEB, PUBLISHER MANCHESTER UNION LEADER.

DEAR MR. LOEB: I appreciate your classifying me among the "honest, sensible, sound" people, but if you think I haven't taken a vigorous stand on this matter, you, sir, are nuttier than a pecan plantation.

The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled in favor of leaving the matter of setting acceptable standards up to the local communities and states.

In Albemarle County, Virginia, recently, a special grand jury of five men and two women were asked to recommend "acceptable community standards." They couldn't do it!

In your opinion, Mr. Loeb, WHO should decide what the adults of Manchester, N. H. should be allowed to see? The city council by ordinance. The chief of police? The sheriff? The PTA?

So far, there has not been a shred of evidence to support your allegation that these movies encourage others to emulate those "whose minds never got above their waists."

Finally, if there is ever a law in this land which requires its citizen to look at X-rated movies you can count on me to take a vigorous stand against it!

DEAR ABBY: A good friend of mine met a very attractive couple at a party at my home one evening. (They were newcomers to town.)

Next thing I heard, my good friend invited this couple to her home for a party, and she didn't invite me! I never would have done such a thing, and claim this is not cricket.

Is this ethical behavior? No etiquette book I have ever seen covers this situation.

WONDERING DEAR WONDERING: It's NOT cricket to invite someone you met at a friend's party without including the friend on the first invitation. After that, you have no obligation to the one who brought you together.

DEAR ABBY: I've read your column for years, and have often said: "These can't be real letters from real people. Nobody could be that dumb." After what happened to me, I will never say that again. Here is my store:

Our son brought home a very pretty foreign girl. They were married. We treated her like our own daughter. At first she was quiet and shy, but it didn't take her long to learn the American ways.

She and our son lived with us. Before long we could tell that they were having trouble. She would leave the house early in the morning and not come home until late in the evening. She didn't have a job, and no one knew where she went. My son objected to it, but my husband would defend her.

When the truth came out, it was my HUSBAND she was seeing on the sly. He is self-employed and can set his own schedule. My son was brokenhearted, but he gave her the divorce she wanted, and I gave my husband his freedom (after 28 years, and four children!), and now my ex-daughter in law is married to my ex-husband!

Now, I can believe anything.

Europe Tour No Summit

COPENHAGEN. Denmark identity" to make clear to the (AP) — West European leaders rest of the world the significance of their new community. They want to point out that they are pledged to the creation of a European union by the end of the 1970s, though they refrained from saying just what that would mean.

At the same time, they sent Nixon a broad list of 10 subjects they want to discuss, plus a draft of a joint statement they hope to make on economic matters.

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization, which includes all the Common Market members except Ireland, has been working for some weeks in Brussels on a statement covering defense matters. It has been waiting for the outcome of Monday's meeting in Copenhagen.

The signal from Copenhagen came loud and clear: The West Europeans would talk with the United States about almost anything except defense, and they would submit a list of 10 topics to prove it. Anything to be said about defense would be said within the framework of NATO.

Meanwhile, Kissinger was telling the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that he would be satisfied with two meetings. Many European think Nixon is so eager to come to Europe to divert the attention of the U.S. public from Watergate that he is not much concerned about what he does here. Kissinger, on the other hand, said the President is looking for concrete results, not just a "grand tour."

"Our interest is in results countries said they would draw and not in procedure," Kissinger told the Senate committee.

Analysis

But Europeans say Nixon and Kissinger failed to take the precaution of consulting them in advance about these ideas. They suspected that the President was using them for domestic political purposes.

Why, some of their diplomats asked, should the alliance be redefined just at this point to suit his convenience?

The result was a decision by the nine countries of the European Common Market to make a strict division between talks on defense and economic matters. They are ready to talk about both, but in different frameworks.

They don't want to bring military and economic problems into the same meeting for fear that the United States will demand economic concessions in return for its spending on the defense of Europe.

The nine Common Market countries said they would draw up a declaration of "European

GAIN LAST MINUTE DELAY — John Mitchell (C-T) and Maurice Stans (R-B) leave the Federal Court House in New York City after winning a delay in the Vesco conspiracy-perjury case. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

White House Asks Congress To Aid in Preparing Budget

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Parting with past policy, the Nixon administration has asked Congress to participate in developing next year's budget.

The latest peace overture from the White House was made in a letter from Budget Director Roy L. Ash to Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

A similar offer was believed to have been made by Ash to Speaker Carl Albert at a private meeting.

While Ash began concentrating on next year's program, Mansfield and Albert were scheduled to meet today and put together a list of "must" legislation which they want passed this year.

The list is expected to exclude many measures on which Nixon asked prompt action, partly because of a unanimous demand by Senate committee chairmen for an end to the session by mid-October.

Ash proposed a "series of meetings over the next six weeks with key members of the Senate, key staff aides, and substantive Senate committees to discuss in broad terms next year's budget outlook and the implications this will have in developing legislation."

"Our thought is that in the process of formulating the budget it would be mutually advantageous to obtain the congressional sense of priorities for next year," Ash added. "We recognize that your chairmen look to the Cabinet secretaries as their primary contact on the development of legislation; these meetings would hopefully supplement, not supplant, this process."

Ash made it clear he wanted the discussions limited to committee chairmen, the ranking Republican on the committee, key staff aides, and "perhaps several other members."

Ash said he or his deputy, Fred Malek, plus experts in the various areas, would represent the White House.

The inability of key senators and congressmen to convey their views to the administration has been a source of complaint since President Nixon took office and has been partly responsible for the continuing impasse between the two branches.

Tax Reform Still on Agenda

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee may make one more effort to get legislation to close alleged tax loopholes moving this year, its acting chairman says.

But it appeared more likely that tax reform, which Democrats tried to use as a major issue in the 1972 presidential campaign, will instead be an issue in the 1974 congressional election year.

Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., is heading the tax-writing committee while Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., recuperates from a spinal operation.

"I would like to do some loophole-closing this year," Ullman said in an interview. "I know this is ambitious, but we might be able to do it if we could get a handle on it."

But Ullman acknowledged that the chances are slim if Congress adjourns as early as some of its leaders hope — by mid-October.

Meanwhile, Mills virtually wrote off chances of tax reform action in the House this year. However, in a telephone interview from the Little Rock, Ark., hospital where he is convalescing, he said chances are good for enactment at least of a partial tax reform bill early next year — and for him to be fully recovered to handle it.

Mills said tax reform might be handled in two legislative packages next year, the first to consist of selective tax breaks to encourage more investment in facilities by industries whose increased production is sought in the national interest.

General tax reform might be included in the same bill or might come later, Mills said, and the revenue loss from the incentive tax cuts could be recouped by an increase in the regular corporate income tax rate.

The tax concessions, Mills said, would be strictly limited in time: "Two years at the most."

The Ways and Means Committee conducted extensive hearings on tax reform early this year, but put off further consideration of the bill to give a clear track to foreign trade legislation sought by President Nixon.

TWENTY-FIVE

Appeals Court to Rule on Tapes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The historic, tangled case now rests in the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, where lawyers in the three-sided dispute argued their positions for more than three hours Tuesday.

Seven appellate judges who heard the case in a courtroom jammed with more than 300 spectators gave no hint how, or when, they would rule. But the case is expected to reach the Supreme Court early next month.

The nine-man D.C. Circuit Court of Appeals is considered a liberal one. Two of its members regarded as conservatives and expected to be sympathetic to Nixon's position, Edward A. Tamm and Roger Robb, elected not to hear this case for unexplained reasons.

The crew-cut Cox, whose subpoenas for presidential tape recordings triggered the unprecedented court battle, argued that without them it may be impossible to prove who was guilty in the Watergate affair.

"The point is, there is no way one can be sure we have got the truth without this evidence," Cox said.

He was subjected to intensive and lengthy questioning by two Nixon appointees on the appeals bench, George W. MacKinnon and Malcolm Richard Wilkey. MacKinnon asked if Cox would pursue the same course if Democrats had been caught bugging Republicans.

"What relevance does that have to the question now before the court?" broke in Chief Judge David L. Bazelon.

"I think it has no relevance, your honor," replied Cox, who was U.S. solicitor general in the Kennedy and Johnson administrations.

Charles Alan Wright, the University of Texas law professor hired by Nixon, contended "the prosecution will go forward" whether the tapes are available or not. And he said broader, far more important question is protecting the President's absolute right to keep anything he chooses.

He argued on behalf of Nixon that forcing the President to turn the tapes over to the grand jury would be "a gash below the waterline of the ship of the presidency... deal a blow to the presidency the country can ill afford." There would, he said, "be no limit on the extent to which presidential privacy can be invaded" in the future.

He scoffed at Cox's suggestion that Nixon's "absolute and sweeping" claim of privilege is shielding the guilty from possible prosecution.

"This is not to protect John Dean or John Ehrlichman or anyone else," Wright said. "It is to protect the right of President Nixon and his successors to have confidential conversations in the Oval Office."

Though the dispute is between Cox and Nixon, ironically it is Sirica who had become the center of the controversy. Dissatisfied with his middle-ground ruling, both sides are seeking writs of mandamus a legal tool compelling action by a government official—against him.

Wright is demanding that Sirica be ordered to vacate his own order, while Cox is urging that he be ordered to rewrite it to direct that the tapes go to the grand jury directly without judicial review first.

Delay for Mitchell, Stans

NEW YORK (UPI) — John N. Mitchell and Maurice H. Stans won a last-minute delay Tuesday in their trial on conspiracy and perjury charges.

Mitchell and Stans, the first former Cabinet secretaries to be tried since the Teapot Dome scandal of the 1920s, are charged with conspiring to influence a fraud investigation of financier Robert L. Vesco.

A federal appeals court recommended, but did not order, that the trial judge reconsider a defense motion that the case be postponed because lawyers did not have time to prepare a defense.

The trial judge, Lee Gagliardi, followed the recommendation and told attorneys for both sides to confer on a "mutual satisfactory trial date."

When the lawyers could not agree on a date, Gagliardi said he would set one "in due course."

"This court adopts the suggestion of the Court of Appeals," Gagliardi said.

The defense attorneys maintained that because of the Watergate investigation, Mitchell, former attorney general who became President Nixon's campaign director in 1972, and Stans, former commerce secretary, were not yet able to defend themselves.

"We are not ready for trial," the defense lawyers answered when Gagliardi asked if they were prepared to go to trial.

Mitchell, 60, and Stans, 65, are accused of conspiring to influence a Securities and Exchange Commission investigation into Vesco's activities. They also are charged with perjury before a grand jury.

Vesco, a codefendant, has been out of the country for at least six months. Harry L. Sears, a prominent New Jersey Republican and lawyer, is a fourth defendant. He will be tried later.

The 16-count indictment filed May 10 charged that Vesco made a secret $200,000 contribution to Nixon's re-election campaign last year. This allegedly was in exchange for pressure by Mitchell and Stans, who then acted as the re-election campaign's finance director, for favorable treatment in the SEC investigation.

English Booters Trim UCCC, 3-1

KINGSTON — The Boys from Birmingham (England, that is), defeated Ulster County Community College, 3-1, in UCCC's second international soccer exhibition Tuesday night at Dietz Stadium.

But, for a team seeing goal posts for the first time after six pre-season workouts, Coach Vizvary's Senators didn't do all that bad. As a matter of fact, it was the first time the Ulster squad had been assembled for actual competition this season.

"In view of the fact that we had 17 freshmen on the field, we'd have to consider the final score a moral victory for us," said Coach Vizvary. "We were not able to score but there were signs out on the field that we will have good balance this season."

The Birmingham boys, way ahead of Ulster in playing condition, subdued the Senators with good, hard-nosed British style soccer.

"These boys have been playing together for two years," Vizvary observed, "and they beat us with good, aggressive soccer."

Three different players contributed goals for Coach John Keighley's Birmingham squad. The British thoroughly dominated the early action but it wasn't until 30 minutes into the first half that Tom Stenhouse put the visitors ahead 1-0 and that's how the half ended.

Birmingham went ahead 2-0 on a 50-minute goal by John Thorns and made it 3-0 ten minutes later on a goal by Pete Habberton. Fifteen minutes later, veteran Peter Kohlisch averted a UCCC shutout with a screamer past the British goalie.

Coach Vizvary indicated that, despite the presence of eight veterans on the squad, all positions are up for grabs. "As soon as we get a steady playing arena (with goal posts)," said Vizvary, "we'll be able to make some judgments on the eventual starting lineups. Right now it's too early to tell." Indications are that the Senators will be granted use of the New Paltz State College soccer facilities for their workouts. The official opening of the season is scheduled on Sept. 22 State.

Ace Helps Mrs. Joe White Lead Beat-the-Pro Field

KINGSTON — Mrs. Joe White, 98-26-72, led the non-winners group in the Batavia Race To Excalibur. Mrs. White fired her 93-30-63. She led the No. 2 hole with a 5-wood, as she became the second Ulster County woman to score an ace this season. The first was posted by Mrs. Harvey Bostic a few days ago at Wiltwyck's No. 8 hole.

Mrs. N. Levan Haver was runner-up with a net 97-31-66. Tied with net 69s were Mrs. Edmund O'Reilly (97-28) and Mrs. Emilio (Pat) Gropposu. 83-14-69. The 83 earned her low gross honors for the day.

Other winners included Mrs. Harry Thayer, 96-26-70; Mrs. Thomas Feeney Sr., 102-31-71. Mrs. Burton Davis, 98-26-72. In the non-winners group were Mrs. Edward Minasian, 98-25-73; Mrs. Dennis Pitcock, 98-23-75; Mrs. Bud Potter, 109-33-76; and Mrs. John Kelly, 108-31-77.

Batavia Race To Excalibur

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The $3,100 featured race at Batavia Downs belonged to Excalibur after the pacer drove past three horses in the last half mile Tuesday night.

The 2:04 4.5 mile time was the horse's best ever and good enough for a decisive eight-length margin and a $9.40 payoff. Fred Haslip drove the winner. Chevy Ridge was second with Egyptian Ra showing.

Other New York harness action saw Lehigh Playbov, with Jimmy Allen in the sulky, move from third to win going away at Saratoga Harnes. The 1½ length victory margin came in the $2,500 featured race.

Lehigh Playbov's time was 2:05 4.5. The return was $5. Dads Lagacy crossed the finish second and Camden Express followed.

Beneon Beauty stayed back in the pack at Vernon Downs before charging from third to stick her nose ahead of O D's Greenleaf at the wire.

Timed in 2:04 3.5 with Bill Andrews pulling the reins, Benton Beauty returned $8.90. Meadow Tar was third in the $1,800 featured race.

Roosevelt Raceway fans saw Surprise hold off a challenge from Prince Mac to win the $8,500 pacing feature by a head. The 2:02 3-5 performance earned backers $4.80.

Spanker was third. Del Insko drove the 4-year-old Florida horse to the victory. Monticello Raceway did not run Tuesday night. It has cancelled its Tuesday races to allow Sunday racing at the harness track.

House Votes on Ban

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House will vote Thursday or Friday on legislation that would enable pro football fans to watch their teams' sold out home games on television.

A bill that would lift the television blackout once a game has been sold out 72 hours in advance received nearly unanimous approval from the House Interstate Commerce Committee. The action came only five days before the season begins.

The Rules Committee, which must clear the bill for floor debate, scheduled action on the bill Thursday morning, with a vote by the full House expected that afternoon or Friday.

House passage was almost assured after the Senate last week overwhelmingly approved a similar bill.

Pete Rozelle, National Football League commissioner, has testified he will quickly move to two versions would have to be ended the home game television blackout once both houses of Congress have acted.

The House bill would place a less than 20 minutes to permanent ban on blackouts decided, approved the measure while the Senate measure by voice vote, with Rep. James would be good only for one Collins, R-Tex., casting the only difference between the "no."

Kniefel Faces Big Challenge

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Evel Knievel is being forced to make of an admiral in Washington room for his female counterpart—a ravishing 19-year-old blonde named Debbie Lawler who wants to jump her motorcycle across 100 feet of water from one naval destroyer to another.

Debbie, 5-foot-2, and yes, eyes of blue, is a former beauty queen and fashion model who has joined Knievel in the sport he made famous—motorcycle jumping.

"I consider Evel the king of motorcycle jumping and I'm the queen," says Debbie. "I want to be as good as I can but I don't want to compete head-on with Evel. Why should a queen have to compete with her king?"

Debbie most certainly is the best female motorcycle jumper to date, because as far as she knows, no other girl has attempted the kind of jumping she does.

She already claims the "world's female motorcycle jumping record" of 83 feet, set a couple of weeks ago in Portsmouth, Ohio. Debbie plans to better that record in Westchester, Ohio, this Saturday night and then looks forward to breaking a man's indoor record in January at the Astrodome by jumping across 16 cars.

After that she may make the jump from ship to ship, the U.S. Navy willing. Her request to soar from one Naval destroyer to another off the San Diego shore is still on the desk of an admiral in Washington and she's hopeful of approval. What makes a lovely girl with long, blonde hair and highly-polished fingernails choose such a career—racing her cycle to speeds of 95 miles an hour?

"It's just that I couldn't take a 9-to-5 job doing the same thing every day," Debbie said. "I think jumping a bike is really a nice way to make a living."

The daughter of a Medford, Ore., motorcycle racer now living in Phoenix, Debbie began riding a motorcycle when she was in grade school and was competing in West Coast cycle races before graduating from high school two years ago. She also began modeling clothes when she was 14, but turned down subsequent modeling offers in order to take up cycle jumping a year ago.

Since then she has been eagerly booking performances across the country to build a name to rival Knievel's. Although Knievel has nearly been killed in some of his jumps, Debbie believes she will never be injured.

"I know I will never fall or be hurt," she said. "I'm not scared. I don't know what it is that makes me believe that I can't be hurt, but I know I can't."

Debbie and her manager have put together a colorful show for her jumps.

Daily Freeman Football Tabloid Due Thursday

The Daily Freeman will publish its first annual high school football preview in tabloid form Thursday. The preview includes photos, schedules and pre-season prospects for all teams in the Ulster County Athletic League (UCAL) and the Dutchess Scholastic League (DSL). Material for the tabloid was compiled by Freeman sports staffers Ira Fufeld and Steve Kane. A pre-season prediction of the pennant races by the entire staff is also included.

Pressure Mounting On Anthony Davis

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Anthony Davis, the incredible sophomore, the son of a postal clerk and a teacher from a poor black section in the San Fernando Valley.

"I'm used to other teams emphasizing on me," said the University of Southern California's exciting tailback, now a junior. "They did it in high school and I expect them to do it this year."

Davis, 20, and his No. 1-ranked teammates open defense of their national championship Saturday night against Arkansas at the Coliseum here.

Before even the first kickoff, the pressure is mounting on the young man with wings on his football cleats. He will be, in the opinion of many, the first player ever to win the coveted Heisman Trophy twice.

"I just can't think about the Heisman," said the personable Davis, who is a leading candidate to win his first one this year. "There are other things to worry about. The Rose Bowl. Winning all our games. Being the best team in the country again."

If all those things happen, the awards will take care of themselves. I'm very honored to have my name mentioned when they talk about the Heisman but I'd like to think of myself as team oriented."

Davis may have gained fame on an open field but it's a different story on an open road. He fell asleep at the wheel of his brother's sports car and crashed early one morning two weeks after the Rose Bowl. The auto was a total wreck.

His left leg and right knee were injured but there was no permanent damage. He played the outfield for USC's NCAA championship baseball team last spring. During the summer, he played baseball with the San Fernando Orioles, an amateur team sponsored by the Baltimore Orioles.

A 5-9, 190-pounder, Davis started his sophomore year at USC as John McKay's third string tailback behind Rod McNeill and Allen Carter. He wound up as a second team All-American.

Injuries to McNeill, now a senior, and Carter, now a junior, gave him his chance. In the Trojans' last six games, Davis scored 15 touchdowns, six against Notre Dame, and averaged 154 yards per game rushing.

For the season, he carried the ball 207 times for 1,191 yards—a 5.8 average—and tallied 17 TDs. He became the first USC sophomore to gain more than 1,000 yards in one season and only in fifth player in a Trojan uniform to go over the magic number.

Davis' name ranks right there with O.J. Simpson and Mike Garret, Heisman Trophy winners for Southern Cal in 1968 and 1965. McKay compares him with Gale Sayers, the great running back of Kansas and the Chicago Bears.

But the converted high school quarterback is taking nothing for granted. He's looking over his shoulder—at McNeill and Carter.

"Nothing is for certain," he stressed. "I know the other guy can take my job as easy as I got mine. There are a lot of great athletes at this school."

The 1972 USC team is rated as one of the greatest in college grid history, going 12-0 and pulverizing Woody Hayes and Ohio State 42-17 in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day.

"It won't be as easy for us this year," said Davis. "We have the potential to be No. 1 again but we know every team will be shooting at us. There'll be everything to gain and nothing to lose for them."

The pressure? "There was," he answered. "A lot of pressure in the last three games last season and I think I handled it well. But I'm glad I got a taste of it at this level. Now I know what I'm in for."

One thing is bothering him, though. He suspects there's a dognap on campus.

"I've had two poodles stolen since I've been here," he explained. "They just disappeared."

Other flight finalists: Second—Dr. C. J. Goffredi vs. William Merrill; Third—Charles Montafia vs. Mike Loughran; Fourth—Jack Gilligan vs. Stirling Potter; Fifth—Ted Feeney vs. Emmanuel Gropus.

Robert Bechtold and Frank Vogt will be the First Flight finalists. DA Vogt squeezed by Tom Schmitt, 1 up, in 19 holes, then eliminated John Provenzano, 2 and 1. Bechtold defeated Thomas Saccoman, 2 and 1, in the first round, then won over Eugene Berardi, 2 up. In first round matches, Berardi won by default from Tom Glynn and Provenzano edged Harry Kaprelian, 2 and 1.

That Riggs-King Classic May Hinge on Blood Test

HILTON HEAD, S.C. (UPI) — The fate of next week's much ballyhooed Billie Jean King-Bobby Riggs tennis match may hinge on a blood test today.

Mrs. King, the standard bearer for women's tennis, undergoes the test today to determine if she is suffering from hypoglycemia, a deficiency of the blood's sugar content.

"I'm not sure she has hypoglycemia," said Dr. James P. B. Goodell, Mrs. King's physician. "I think her problem is she has the flu bug."

It was a combination of hot and muggy weather plus the flu that knocked Mrs. King out of the U.S. Tennis Championship last week at Forest Hills, forcing her to default in the third set of her third round match to Julie Heldman. At the time of her default it was felt the 29-year-old Mrs. King, a five-time winner of the women's singles title at Wimbledon and three-time U.S. champion, would have plenty of time to recover for her match against the 55-year-old, admitted male chauvinist Riggs set for the Astrodome at Houston Sept. 20.

Mrs. King's weakened condition forced her to cancel a match scheduled for Monday which was supposed to be taped by a television network as part of its upcoming World Invitational Tennis Classic. She played the match Tuesday, however, and has another one set for today but her scheduled appearance in this weekend's St. Louis Women's Professional tennis tournament has been canceled.

Dr. Goodell admitted Mrs. King had "a touch of hypoglycemia" three years ago but added he would administer additional blood tests after today's match in an effort to make a firm diagnosis.

"If she's still got the same thing she won't be able to play Bobby," said Larry King, Bobby's husband and business partner.

For the season, he carried the ball 207 times for 1,191 yards—a 5.8 average—and tallied 17 TDs. He became the first USC sophomore to gain more than 1,000 yards in one season and only in fifth player in a Trojan uniform to go over the magic number.

Coughlin - Hughes Finals

KINGSTON

Defending champion Form Coughlin faces 15-time winner George Hughes in the 36-hole finals Saturday and Sunday at The Twaalfskill Club. Coughlin won his first title in 1967. Hughes captured his first crown in 1951.

Coughlin reached the finals in the eight-player flight by defeating Mike Gropus Jr., 7 and 6 and John Hasbrouck, 6 and 5. Hughes, meanwhile, edged J. Michael Behn, 1 up, and Bob Terpening, who upset him in the 1971 finals, 4 and 3. In other first round action, Terpening on default from Alvin and Hasbrouck topped Clarence Raichle, 4 and 2.

Robert Bechtold and Frank Vogt will be the First Flight finalists. DA Vogt squeezed by Tom Schmitt, 1 up, in 19 holes, then eliminated John Provenzano, 2 and 1. Bechtold defeated Thomas Saccoman, 2 and 1, in the first round, then won over Eugene Berardi, 2 up. In first round matches, Berardi won by default from Tom Glynn and Provenzano edged Harry Kaprelian, 2 and 1.

Tested Backs On Ithaca 11

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP)—Ithaca College Coach Jim Butterfield will field a tested running corps behind a rookie offensive line when the Bombers open their football campaign here Saturday.

Graduation wiped out last year's starting line except for tight end J.B. Little. Butterfield is filling the gap with reserves and transfer students before Ithaca meets its first official foe, William Paterson College of Paterson, N. J.

The Bombers lived up to their nickname last Saturday when they pounded Mansfield, Pa., State, 36-6, in a scrimmage. Butterfield said his team's good conditioning and enthusiasm were key factors. Ithaca's backfield showed its power in a 5-4 1972 season by

Sherlock Wins Marine Classic

TRENTON, N.J. — Kingston's John Sherlock, driving his Mercury powered tunnel boat despite a leg injury suffered on the Hudson River the week before, won the Trenton Times Marine Classic on the Delaware River here over the Labor Day weekend.

Driving in the SJ class, Sherlock exhibited his driving skills by holding the lead throughout the race. His victory eased the pain of his injury which occurred in a mishap at the Kingston lighthouse when he flipped after hitting a wave from a boat in a practice run, losing his boat and motor to the bottom of the Hudson.

Two other Kingston powerboaters also steered their crafts to high place finishes in Labor Day competitions. Gary Reynolds of Port Ewen captured a third place on Oneida Lake in the Eastern Can-Am Power Boat Championships in his new Allison boat. Tom Turner, a Kingston racer, withstood mechanical vibrations to take an eighth place in his high performance tunnel boat also in the Can-Am's SJ Class.

Wayside scored in five of their six turns at bat to trounce Boiceville 1, 12-4, in the A finals, while Keyser's enjoyed two five-run rallies in a 15-4 romp over Kessman's Landscaping. Pat Burke pitched a fine 10-hitter for Wayside, yielding only two runs over the last six innings. The winners collected 13 blows off Joe Freidel.

Tony Secreto slammed a double and homer and Scott Wilson had a homer and single for Wayside. Bill McDermott added two doubles. Secreto and McDermott had three RBIs each. Mike Patrick led Boiceville with a single-double combination. Ray Negron, John Stelcen and Keith Thomas had two singles apiece.

Keyser's unloaded 23 hits against Bob Fescio and ran up a 12-1 lead in the first three innings. Eric Keyser limited the losers to eight hits. Fred Carey and Steve Gorsline stroked four singles each for Keyser's. Bob Norton hit a homer. Jay Snyder knocked in four runs with a double and two singles. Kevin Jones slammed two doubles and a single and Bill Haber added three singles.

Mike Carpino paced the Kessman squad with a home run and double and Tim Van Etten had two singles.

The schedule after the opener: Sept. 22, at Juniata, Pa.; Sept. 29, Cortland; Oct. 6, Rochester Tech; Oct. 13, at Springfield, Mass.; Oct. 20, Wilkes; Oct. 27, at Bridgeport, Conn.; Nov. 3, C. W. Post; Nov. 10, at Hobart.

READ THIS AD.

Unless you're a speed reader, it should take you about 20 seconds to read this ad. Which is about 5 words per second. Forest fire, in that same amount of time, will have ravaged and burned over 200 trees. Which is about 2 trees for every word you read. Or by the time you finish this sentence, 118 trees. And does the damage add up! In a year's time that's over 420 million trees, over 4 million acres burned, and hundreds of thousands of animals left homeless. Not to forget the ecological havoc forest fire will have wreaked where it passed. And it's all such a senseless waste too. Because with only a little time, most man-caused forest fires could be prevented. An extra second to grind out a cigarette. Another minute to pour more water on your fire, scatter the coals, cover it with dirt. A moment to refresh yourself on fire safety. A few extra minutes can save years of growth. And that's time well spent on saving our forests. Just like reading this ad.

PLEASE: HELP PREVENT FOREST FIRES.

Strike Three For Jim Bouton

NEW YORK (AP) — "I guess I lost my fastball or something," says sportscaster Jim Bouton.

The former New York Yankees pitcher told local television viewers Tuesday night he has been dropped from WABC-TV's Eyewitness News team.

"To those of you who sent me crank letters, let me just say you won't have Jim Bouton to kick around any more," he said. Bouton also bid a public farewell to his television colleagues.

The WABC-TV management had informed Bouton two weeks ago that his three-year contract would not be renewed. "My own feeling is that I was too outspoken for them," Bouton said after the news program. "But they allowed me that freedom right up until the last show."

Bouton denied that financial arrangements had anything to do with his dismissal, adding: "I was very happy working here. I loved the working conditions."

Bouton spiced his reporting with locker-room gossip and rumors in an attempt to present a behind-the-scenes picture of professional athletics.

Known for a relaxed, kidding TV manner, Bouton also liked to make unorthodox predictions and catch viewers off-balance.

A storm of controversy had erupted over disclosures in the first of Bouton's several books, "Ball Four," a detailed account of the Yanks' off-field activities.

Bouton acknowledged he has had discussions with "several local stations" about a future job. But he declined to give any details.

"What'll I do now? I don't know," he said in his televised farewell. "Maybe I'll work on my old knuckleball."

Our Lady Lourdes Seeks Membership in UCAL

WALKKILL Our Lady of Lourdes High School, currently a member of the Dutchess County Scholastic League, has applied for membership in the Ulster County Athletic League.

UCAL President Don Averill of Walkkill said Tuesday that the motion by the Poughkeepsie school has been tabled pending further investigation.

Lourdes recently announced the elimination of varsity and junior varsity cross country and two of their minor programs due to financial difficulties.

In other developments, two

UCAL football games have been rescheduled because of a conflict with the Jewish High Holy days. The Walkkill at Ellenville and Liberty at Pine Bush contests, originally set for Oct. 6, which is Yom Kippur, will be played on Monday, Oct. 8.

Coast Trees Touch Off Capitol Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — An emergency eucalyptus bill, aimed at avoiding a big blaze in the East San Francisco Bay Hills, is running into fire on Capitol Hill amid a battle over federal aid.

Backers argue the bill is needed to avert or lessen the possibility of a disaster from dry trees filled with highly combustible eucalyptus oil. Opponents claim the legislation would set a dangerous precedent and is inflationary.

"If the people of California believe that these eucalyptus trees represent the threat that they seem to think they do, we maintain that the state of California should pick up the $11 million tab out of its $850 million treasury surplus," said six Republicans on the House Agriculture Committee. They urged the House to kill the bill.

But the bill's supporters, including a majority of the Agriculture Committee, contended the legislation would help solve "an extraordinary problem not addressed under current interpretations of federal law — a threat of forest fire sweeping through a populated area carrying with it a high probability of major federal disaster despite exhausting local efforts to abate the threat."

Last December, an unprecedented freeze left a ghostly brown forest of some two million eucalyptus trees in the hills above Oakland and Berkeley, Calif. Thus, the committee reported to the House, 2,700 acres of trees ranging as high as 150 feet have been "transformed into a volatile fuel that carries the potential of a holocaust."

Rather than "providing an unwelcome precedent inherent in a direct grant of federal funds without additional local participation, the committee ... feels that the more proper course is to provide additional federal funds, contingent on matching efforts within the state of California," the report said.

Therefore, a Senate-passed bill was revamped by the House committee and is due to be put to a House vote on Tuesday.

As approved by the Senate, the bill would authorize up to $11 million in grants to state and local governments for fire suppression, tree removal and reforestation work on public and private land. In addition, it would authorize whatever money would be needed to reimburse property owners for costs of removing trees from their land.

The House committee's version, however, would provide a limited federal-state program with cost-sharing and matching-fund features for tree removal and fire suppression work and for reimbursement purposes. State and local agencies would receive federal grants but no payment of federal money could exceed 75 percent of costs incurred by private landowners and no money would be available for replanting trees.

Fed Target Of Blame on U. S. Credit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Savings and loan associations say the Federal Reserve Board has cost them thousands of customers this summer and dried up the market for housing mortgages.

With interest rates at their highest mark in history, the Federal Reserve was the prime target of the savings and loan associations, mutual savings banks, small businessmen and homebuilders when the House Banking Committee opened a two-week hearing on the credit squeeze.

Since the Federal Reserve

took the ceilings off interest rates for savings rate in commercial banks in July, large banks increased their net deposits in consumer accounts by $510 million, while savings and loan associations lost $313 million in July and more in August, Raleigh W. Greene, president of the National League of Insured Savings Associations, said.

Since the savings and loan industry provides more than half the mortgage money in this country, this has further depleted the financing available for housing loans.

Mortgage commitments by savings and loan associations have fallen by $1 billion since mid-summer, witnesses said.

Spokesmen for the homebuilders said the loan market is so tight they anticipate new housing starts may not exceed 1.5 million to 1.6 million units, about three-fifths of the goal for this year.

The savings institutions said they were put at a disadvantage by the Federal Reserve July 5 when it raised interest rates on a wide range of consumer accounts and initiated a so-called "wild card" certificate of deposit plan.

Oil Expert Confident Of Reserve

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Elk Hills naval oil reserve that President Nixon wants to tap to alleviate the energy crisis is virtually a ghost field.

But oil sources say it could be in production within 60 days after a go-ahead signal.

The 70-square-mile reserve, located 10 miles north of Taft in the San Joaquin Valley, is considered the largest inland accumulation of oil in California and is among the five largest known U.S. oil reservoirs.

It was established in 1912 by President William Howard Taft to be used only in time of war. Nixon told Congress that production from the 1.2-billion-barrel pool beneath the Central California desert is needed to ward off a heating oil shortage on the West Coast next winter.

He said his representatives "will seek the necessary consultations with members of Congress in order to increase production of oil from Elk Hills."

During World War II, 27 million barrels of oil were produced at Elk Hills.

Capt. George P. Dowd, commander of Elk Hills, said the reserve's 1,032 existing wells have been kept near-operational and could be producing 160,000 barrels a day within 60 days.

Only 2,500 barrels of oil a day are now being pumped to maintain underground pressure and keep equipment in working order.

Of that amount, 80 per cent is sold by the Navy. Standard Oil Co. of California, which holds a lease on a portion of the reserve, gets the other 20 per cent for running the facility for the government. Standard has 78 men working at the reserve. The Navy has between 20 and 30 men there.

Thursday, September 13

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is an interesting day and evening. Changes just around the corner are coming into view and give you an indication of what you can do to quicken the activity. You will become aware of the additional information you need to succeed.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You now know what is expected of you by associates and can quietly state your own expectations so there is more cooperation in the future. Many situations break now so you know what to do about civic duties.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Being more cooperative with co-workers improves production and benefits. Make your surroundings more charming by using that artistic Venusian quality you have. Use more courtesy with mate.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Stepping out with good friends for the recreation you want is good now. First be sure to handle important obligations. Don't cause enmity between a close tie and another, or you are the loser. Don't stay out too late in p.m.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Try a new approach with those at home so more harmonious relations result. Do some entertaining with a sincere heart so you please your guests. Dress in fine style.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Much contact with regular associates can bring new friends of value into your life, as well as new ideas that are worthwhile. Put a new idea into operation quickly with the aid of fellow workers. Try not to impose on another.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Handle those outstanding responsibilities quickly instead of procrastinating and haggling over them. A little self-sacrifice for mate can bring fine results now. Show you are a master at your craft.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't start an argument with an associate but try to make the future more pleasant by more cooperation and understanding. Keep silent when another is fretting and fuming. Keeping the peace is very important right now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You need to think and act constructively now if you are to solve those problems in the proper way. Forget the fun things and stick to whatever is important. Evening is best spent at home.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Getting into some new form of entertainment is good today since it could be delightful and interesting. A fine day for creativity and gaining the favor of bigwigs. Avoid one who does not appreciate you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) You have to see to it that all is handled efficiently yet tactfully at home. Know what kin expect of you. Showing a cooperative spirit starts the day off in the proper manner.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Ideal day for getting into those philosophical or other ideas that could lead you in the right direction for the future, since you have support of a higher-up. Show some interest in others' problems.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Cement better relations with one who has power over your monetary affairs and you get more support for the days ahead. Converse more with the one you love and reach a more harmonious relationship. Think constructively.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people who will want to serve others later in life, so be sure to teach to complete whatever has once been started and to wait until asked before trying to help anyone, or your child could use energies in wrong directions, aiding the unworthy, your life is largely up to YOU! and lessen both the success and usefulness possible here. Teach early to act more quickly also, after sufficient thought. Give a good grounding in psychology. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of Anything can happen in match point games. Here is an example of a brilliant series of plays to make the difference between top and bottom.

East's double of one club was erratic. South's jump to three no-trump pure whimsy.

South won the first trick with the ace of hearts over East's king. He noted that the normal result would be four spades bid and five made.

He needed to make five no-trump for a good score and worked out a play for it based on the assumption that East held the king of diamonds and king-queen of clubs. He led his jack of hearts right back. West took his queen and led a third heart.

Dummy's 10 won and South discarded a diamond. Then he proceeded to run off six spades while discarding two clubs from dummy.

When West showed out on the second spade, East could see the end play that was due to come off.

He also found a way to foil it. His first discard was his last heart. His next two were small diamonds to leave his king unprotected. Finally he chucked the deuce of clubs.

Now South led a club to dummy's ace. East followed with the queen. It was obvious to South that East was holding the king of clubs and king-small in diamonds. He led dummy's jack of clubs. East cashed two club tricks to hold South to four

'The Silence' Code Ends at West Point

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — The chairman of the U.S. Military Academy's cadet honor committee disclosed Tuesday the committee had voted to put an end to the tradition known as "The Silence."

"The Silence" was an unwritten code by which the entire cadet corps ostracized any cadet who had broken the honor system.

At last June's graduation, Cadet James J. Pelosi, of West Hempstead, N.Y., revealed after receiving his commission as a second lieutenant that he had endured the tradition-backed isolation for 19 months.

Pelosi had been found guilty by the honor committee of completing a quiz answer after the examiner had given the order to stop. He denied the charge and his conviction was reversed on appeal, but the cadet corps applied the silent treatment anyway.

A West Point spokesman, asked if the action by the honor committee came as a result of Pelosi's case, said he knew of no such case.

Cadet Richard H. Schwamb, chairman of the cadet honor committee, declined to comment, saying it was against the rules for him to mention any cadet's name.

Schwamb's formal statement said that the committee had voted Monday night "to discontinue the formal sanctioning of the tradition of social ostracism known as 'The Silence.'"

"This is not a change to the cadet honor code, which states simply that a cadet will not lie, cheat or steal nor tolerate any cadet who does," the statement said. "All other procedures of the cadet honor system will remain the same."

Schwamb, a senior from Silver Spring, Md., said later the subject had been brought before the committee after it had been "brought up to me by various individuals in the cadet corps."

He said that since his job was "to insure at all times that the corps of cadets is represented in all its views," he raised the issue before the honor committee, composed of representatives from each cadet company.

"These committee members took the issue of 'The Silence' back to their respective companies to discuss among the companies and arrive at some decision," Schwamb said.

Sr. Citizen Program Coordinator Named

TOWN OF ULSTER better place to live, work and retire in.

Albert Spada, Ulster County Republican Chairman, today announced the appointment of County Legislator Richard D. Nace (R-Dist. 2) as county coordinator for Senior Citizens' Programs in Ulster County.

In accepting the appointment Nace, who serves on the County Legislature's Committee on Programs for the Aging, stated that "... our senior citizens comprise a large percentage of the population. These citizens possess an enormous reservoir of talent and experience, and in most instances have time to devote towards the good conduct of the business of Ulster County."

Nace plans to begin immediate organization of senior citizens who are interested in helping make Ulster County a

Vogt Answers Lippman

'Running and Campaigning'

KINGSTON, N.Y. — District Attorney Francis J. Vogt took issue today with his Democratic opponent Barry Lippman's charges Tuesday that "Vogt is not seeking re-election."

In a press release issued today, the Republican Vogt said, "Imagine my surprise upon reading remarks made by Lippman in The Daily Freeman in which he states that I am being appointed to the office presently being held by Ulster County Judge Raymond J. Mino, providing I run for district attorney and win. I do not know the source of my opponent's information, but the fact of the matter is I have no idea what Judge Mino's plans are or who Governor Nelson Rockefeller might appoint to fill the county judge's seat in the event it were to become vacant."

"As far as I'm concerned, I am running and campaigning vigorously for the office of district attorney. I take a great deal of pride in the record that this office has compiled over the past three years and look forward to improving upon it in the future."

Commenting on Lippman's statement that if elected, he would make a valuable contribution. Vogt said he would be interested in knowing what kind of valuable contribution to the operation of the district attorney's office Lippman thinks he could make. "As far as I know, Lippman has lived in Ulster County about a year-and-a-half, and I can't recall him trying a single felony case," Vogt said.

An August 31, it was reported by The Daily Freeman that County Judge Mino's qualifications as a jurist had been forwarded to Gov. Rockefeller for consideration in the appointment of 68 lawyers as Court of Claims judges to handle narcotics cases, under the state's new drug law.

According to an informed source, Judge Mino had already been interviewed for a Court of Claims judgeship at a recent meeting in New York City.

Should Judge Mino receive the appointment, it is thought that it would pave the way for Vogt's appointment as county judge. Vogt had 10 years in the district attorney's office before becoming DA.

Lippman Tuesday demanded a commitment from Vogt that he will, if elected, fill out his term as district attorney.

Judge Mino is presently completing his sixth year of a 10-year term. He was first appointed as County Judge in 1961 at a time when he was serving as district attorney of Ulster County.

It is not now known when Gov. Rockefeller will make further appointments to the Court of Claims. On August 27, the governor named 16 of 68 lawyers to the $37,817 a year posts. Judge Mino presently receives $31,500. The Ulster County District Attorney's post pays $25,000.

Lippman said Tuesday he feels that the most important question voters should be asking themselves is, if Vogt were reelected and then resigned to take a judgeship, who would be appointed to replace him.

DON'T MOVE. IMPROVE.

Remember when buying a house was as complicated as moving your furniture! Well, today it's a different story. We all know it's getting harder and harder to buy a house. Not because you don't have the money for the down payment (although that can be a problem!) but because mortgages are not so easy to come by these days. And even when you finally get one, the interest rates are higher than ever.

So why move? Improve! Come in to one of Statewide's five convenient offices and talk to us about a Home Improvement Loan. We'll loan you up to $5000 and give you up to 7 years to pay us back. $5000 can buy a lot of alterations! And maybe that's all you and your family really need.

Don't move. Improve. With a Home Improvement Loan from Statewide.
